RESULTS OF MAINE ELECTIONS

In 1892 the Republican majority was 12,500.
In 1896 the Republican majority was 45,777.
In 1900 the Republican majority was 28,613.
In 1904 the Republican majority was 36,807.
In 1908 the Republican majority was 30,584.
In 1912 the vote for Taft, added to the vote for Roosevelt, was in excess of Wilson's vote by 23,925.
In 1916 the Republican majority was 13,800.

Portland, Maine, Sept. 12.—The largest vote in the history of Maine was cast at the state election yesterday. The total vote will approximate 150,000. These figures have not been approached since 1880, the year the Democratic and Greenback parties fused, when the total was 147,802. In the last presidential year and two years ago it fell below 142,000.

The receipt today of the vote from the border and a few isolated towns increased the plurality of Carl E. Milliken, Republican, for governor, over Governor Oakley C. Curtis, Democrat, from the indicated figures of 13,000 last night to 13,800. Indicated pluralities for the other Republican candidates were confirmed by a revision of the vote. The Republicans will have solid delegations in both branches of congress and will easily control both houses of the legislature.

The report from Laredo, Texas, said that the members of the Second Maine Infantry made a two days' march of sixty miles to exercise the franchise. The vote of the soldiers followed about the percentage of that cast at home.

The country vote as usual controlled the election. The cities were a total plurality of 51 for Governor Curtis, as against a total of 5,000 received by him two years ago.

A vote of about four to one the voters approved the state law limiting the employment of women and children to 54 hours a week.

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—The thoroughness of the Republican victory at the polls yesterday was emphasized as the returns from isolated towns and plantations (Continued On Page Six)

SAYS SPAIN MUST DECIDE IN FAVOR OF ONE OF WAR GROUPS

Paris, Sept. 12.—Spain must decide in favor of one of the other of the groups of belligerents in the opinion of Antonio Maura, former premier and leader of the conservative party, according to news dispatches from Madrid quoting an address by Senor Maura.

The address was delivered at Beranga, near Bilbao at a meeting attended by 6,000 Mauristas. The former premier declared, according to a despatch, that Spain could not abandon her neutrality but that the conditions of the war made her isolation henceforth impossible. He is quoted as saying that it was moreover essential that France and England should not be hostile towards Spain.

The Madrid despatch predicts that Senor Maura's speech will cause a strong impression throughout the country, as his prestige was never so high as at present. The majority of his followers are supposed to be pro-German in their sympathies.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Violation of American neutrality by a British torpedo boat which held up and examined the Philippine steamer Cebu within the territorial waters of the Philippines was reported to the war department today by Governor General Harrison. The despatch immediately was transmitted to the state department and will be made the subject of a vigorous protest to Great Britain.

The incident occurred yesterday one mile and a half off Carabao Island. According to the report of the steamer's master, Lieutenant Bailes, commanding U. S. S. destroyer Number 2, boarded the Cebu, made inquiries about her passengers and took both the ship's manifest and her passenger list.

Apparently the officer was searching for a man named Bady, who was not found.

On releasing the Cebu, the lieutenant made this note on her log: "Boarded at 3:50 a. m. 9, 11, 16, examined and passed."

There has been more than one complaint about the activity of the British vessels around the Philippines and while Governor General Harrison's report furnishes the bases for a specific protest, it is probable that Great Britain will be called upon to restrict the operations of her patrolling squadron generally in and near the territorial waters of the islands.

In order that there might be no mistake about where the Cebu was at the time she was held up, her exact position was given by the master as follows:

"Latitude 14 degrees, 16 minutes; longitude, 120 degrees, 35 minutes, or one and a half miles from Carabao Island."

ON TRIAL

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 12.—The trials of Jeff and Richard Harrison, of San Antonio, Texas, and Eugene Dies, of Hot Springs, Arkansas, on a charge of having held up and robbed a passenger train on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad near Central Station, W. Va., last October of nearly $100,000 in unsigned treasury notes opened in the United States district court here today.

Over 6200 Saloons Next Year PORTSMOUTH ENTITLED TO ANOTHER SALOON

Columbus, O., Sept. 12.—With an estimate population of 28,985 Portsmouth will be entitled to an additional saloon during the next license year, according to federal census figures received today from Washington by the state liquor license board. The state board is required by law to allot saloons according to yearly estimates by the census bureau, one to every 500 population.

BUYS AUTO AT NIGHT IS STOLEN AT DAWN

Elyria, O., Sept. 12.—C. W. Hartle, farmer, purchased an automobile last evening. This morning he found the machine had been stolen.

PROBING THE BRIDGE DISASTER

Quebec, Sept. 12.—The St. Lawrence Bridge Company and the Quebec Bridge Commission are conducting a joint investigation today into the collapse of the central span of the Quebec Cantilever bridge over the St. Lawrence river while it was being hoisted into position yesterday. The death list remains at eleven.

Accounts of survivors of the disaster and spectators are at hopeless variance, some holding that the span itself buckled first and others that the hoisting supports did not work uniformly, thereby throwing too much strain on the supports. Engineers in charge of the construction work said today that as soon as the cause of the accident is ascertained the work of either reconstructing a new span or raising the collapsed one would be immediately undertaken. It was estimated the work will cost $1,000,000.

The opening of the bridge scheduled for next spring has been indefinitely postponed. Quebec Harbor officials on finding that the fallen span did not block the ship channel, permitted today the resumption of navigation by ocean-going vessels.

PROFESSOR'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER

Columbus, O., Sept. 12.—A fisherman early today found the body of Charles S. Prosser, 50, head of the geology department at the Ohio State University, and a well known scientific writer, floating in the Olentangy river near the university campus.

Friends believe that Prof. Prosser's mind became deranged and that he committed suicide.

Larger cities of Ohio will be entitled to a considerable increase in the number of their saloons.

With an estimated population of 660,728, Cleveland will be entitled to 34 additional saloons, making a total of 1,361.

Cincinnati, with an estimated population of 411,975 can have seven additional saloons, making a total of 823. Toledo will gain nine saloons, making a total of 493, with an estimated population of 193,928. Columbus, with an estimated population of 216,925, will gain 16 saloons, making a total of 433.

The estimated population of other principal cities and their saloon additions are: Dayton, 127,905, gain of three; Akron, 86,685, gain of seven; Canton, 61,532, gain of four; Hamilton, 40,339, gain of two; East Liverpool, 22,727, gain of one; Springfield, 51,846, gain of one; Lima, 35,678, gain of two; Ashabula, 21,700, gain of two; Coshocton, 11,696, gain of one; Steubenville, 27,765, gain of one; Newark, 29,905, gain of one; Zanesville, 31,044, gain of one; Mansfield, 22,860, no gain; Portsmouth, 28,985, gain of one.

The new license year begins in November, but applications for licenses must be in the hands of the county officials by not later than September 15.

Secretary J. L. Hampton says that the total number of licenses which will be issued in Ohio for next year will be upwards of 6,200, an increase of about 530.

Railroad Revenues Increase

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—Net revenues from railway operations of $93,415,264 for July as against $75,525,939 for July, 1915, for 150 railroads were announced today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The gross revenues for the roads reporting was $265,517,824 or more than $40,000,000 over a year ago. The gross expenses were $172,102,560 or about $21,000,000 more than a year ago.

WILSON MAKES NO COMMENT ON MAINE ELECTION

New London, Conn., Sept. 12.—President Wilson today remained near his sister, Mrs. Anna E. Howe, who is critically ill here. His plans depended largely on the outcome of her sickness. Early this morning it was said that her condition was practically unchanged. The first news of the apparent Republican victory in Maine was received from the newspapers this morning. The President would make no comment this morning.

CHIEF, FILM, SAVING

New York.—James T. Waddell, the best known strike-breaker in the country, is in New York and has charge of the strike-breakers, said to number 5,000, who have been employed to break the strike on the elevated, subway and surface car lines.

GERMANS TO START ANOTHER SUB TO THE UNITED STATES

Berlin, Sept. 11.—(Via London, Sept. 12.)—Reports from Bremen say that another merchant submarine is expected to leave that port for the United States at the end of the present month. None of the projected ships, sisters of the Deutschland and Bremen, however, have been completed yet, according to a statement by Philip Heinke, one of the directors of the Ocean Navigation Company, owners of the Deutschland. Asked when the Bremen was expected to arrive in America, Director Heinke said: "Only the Gods know," and refused to discuss the matter further.

AGREES TO REMAIN IN CABINET

Athens, Greece, Monday Sept. 11.—(Via London, Sept. 12.)—The French flag which yesterday was hoisted over the French legation here has been hauled down out of deference to Greek opinion though the guard of French marines remains. The British minister to Greece refused the offer of a legation guard considering it unnecessary.

Premier Zaimis offered his resignation to King Constantine this afternoon. He pleaded that owing to the constant difficulties arising of late he was unable to carry out negotiations of the greatest importance for Greece which were imperative at the present moment.

At the request of the king and on receiving an expression of confidence from the representatives of the entente ministers Premier Zaimis finally withdrew his resignation.

The regrets of King Constantine for the violation of the French legation by ruffians who fired shots there during the meeting of the entente ministers on Saturday were expressed to the French minister today by Count Mercati, the king's grand master of ceremonies. An Egyptian Greek named Canelopoulos, has confessed he was hired with forty denizens of the gas house district of Athens to cause the disturbance.

Labor troubles continue. The employees of the street car lines of Athens and Piraeus have struck and the postal and telegraph employees are now threatening to quit work on account of the increased cost of living.

Thinks Greece
Will Enter War
Athens, Sept. 12.—(Via London.)—"If the Entente and anti-Venizelos factions can only keep quiet for ten days and not embroil the situation, Greece's entry into the war will be a settled fact," said a prominent Greek official to the Associated Press today. "If not," he said, "it is the end of Greece."

King Constantine and Premier Zaimis conferred at length on the situation today.

On the whole the situation with regards to Greece's entry into the war on the side of the Entente seems favorable, notwithstanding the arrest last Sunday and Monday by Anglo-French secret police of German and Austrian agents, against which Premier Zaimis vigorously protested, and despite complicity by the French in the disaffection of the eleventh Greek division at Saloniki, which profoundly shocked the Greek public and seriously endangered the success of the negotiations then in progress.

The reported opposition of Russia and Italy's co-operation in the war is actually much less than had been believed, and the Serbs far from objecting, are most anxious that Greece join the Entente.

The only menace of the negotiations in the Greek government holding out too long in the hope of obtaining the concessions offered eighteen months ago but which no longer obtain.

Eight classes of untrained recruits between the ages of 33 and 40 years soon will be called to the colors.

"GREEN" HAND LETS CAR RUN WILD

New York, Sept. 12.—The first serious accident of the street railway strike in this city occurred early today when a trolley car of the Union Railway Company in the Bronx operated by a "green" motorman, got beyond control on a steep grade and jumping the track at a curve crashed into two jitney buses, killing two persons and severely injuring thirteen others. Four of the injured may die. The car crew was arrested pending investigation.

After a night of intermittent riding, motormen on the Sixth and Ninth avenue elevated roads reported to the police that they had been fired upon by strikers from roof tops. Third avenue elevated trains were repeatedly bombarded with bricks and stones from buildings. One passenger, a woman, was struck on the head, and seriously injured. Five arrests were made. The congestion on the subways and elevated roads today was even more pronounced than yesterday, due to the fact that there was little or no surface service in Manhattan and the Bronx. Not a car wheel moved in the West Chester cities of Yonkers, Mount Vernon, and New Rochelle. Union leaders claim hundreds of subway and elevated employees have joined the union within the last twenty-four hours. Traction officials maintain that all of their employees who signed the "Master and servant" contract, remained loyal.

Hugh Fraunce, state organizer of the American Federation of Labor, insisted today that a general walk-out by all labor unions was not being considered. He said the present plans of the leaders contemplated calling out the unions closely allied to the striking railroad men. John T. Riley, chairman of the International Longshoremen's Union, declared (Continued On Page Six)

THE BALKAN CAMPAIGN—ITS MEANING

One of the most interesting articles on the European war we have read in a long time appeared in a recent issue of the London, England, Observer, which explained at length the meaning of the Balkan campaign and the general scheme of the Allied generals to encircle the Teutonic Empires with a ring of steel. We reproduce the article in part and feel sure our readers will find it well worthy of perusal. What the Allies are striving to do and what the Teutonic armies have so far prevented is strikingly shown. Of course the writer, an English military expert, is confident that eventually the campaign plans will be carried out, but his review is free from passion or abuse. The article follows:

"The Balkan campaign extends still further the scheme of things and Roumania's action may complete it. What then? We are often reminded of familiar things in a way that makes them fresh, and so it has been during last week with many movements throughout the struggle. This extraordinary war is more full of wonders than tongue or pen will ever relate. Strive as men may to realize events, our minds can never quite come up with the facts. Generalizations in a vague largeness of language have ceased to suggest anything. Details are as numberless as the sands of the seashore, yet so unlike atom to atom—since the sands in this case are all made up of human personalities in infinite movement—that to know the war you would have to know all the details, which is impossible. So we must lose either the mass or the grain of the truth. No one in the field, from Commander-in-chief to private, sees more than samples. Many local aspects are separately overwhelming, and yet we know that beyond sight a vast series of processes, each as overwhelming, make up the inconceivable whole.

I—A WAR OF WONDERS

This in one sense is a reversal of experience. For some thousands of years at least the resources of language had been ahead of the possibilities of human action; but in this war, bringing out forces and sounding depths never imagined before, man's power of action, and behind that, the play of his mind and soul, have wholly outstripped his capacity to utter. The conflict drags on and becomes more colossal, and is slow, and yet it is never for a moment monotonous. Its varieties are more astounding than its bulk. Habit tries to dull us to the chronic prodigy. We doubt whether many persons have yet pinched themselves when they are asked to realize that before the end of Armageddon all the notions engaged will have mustered them first to last more than forty million men in arms. The conception of space is, perhaps, easier, but even so it is difficult to conceive fighting areas stretching across lands and seas, mountains and plains, for thousands of miles.

To reflections in this vein we shall have to return more than once during today's survey. But in the first place we want our readers to bestir themselves about a new matter, which is big enough, but comparatively simple. Let them get a real grasp of the fact that the Allies are now steadily moving towards the establishment of one front, connecting all their armies for several thousands of miles, stretching right through Europe and Asia, from the Straits of Dover to the Persian Gulf. That achievement will stand out as mighty even in the records of the war. As a linking-up of ordered forces across a wide stretch of the world it will be like nothing else at all in human history. It will be the reasoned assurance of full victory and its broad foundation.

II—THE FIGHT FOR THE THROUGH ROUTE

This approach to a direct junction west and east between all the allied armies with sea power everywhere supporting them, is the real meaning of what is happening at last in the Balkans. There, with the entry of General Sarrail's forces into the general offensive—and the consequences which must follow sooner or later on the Danube, perhaps sooner—events have at last begun to unloose the middle knot of the problem. We have several times explained what was in the first place a fascinating contest for one particular advantage between the rival groups of belligerents, and how the Central Empires unfortunately won for a time.

Each great war-league at the outset was more or less dislocated. The Western Allies, to the detriment of the common cause in many ways, were cut off by Turkey and Bulgaria from land contact with Russia. The Central Empires were divided from Bulgaria and Turkey by a single obstacle—Serbia. The British government stood at Gallipoli and Constantinople, but never craved with sufficient practical imagination and decision what was at stake. They failed to apply the relatively small increase of effort which would have forced a junction with Russia through the Straits in a manner certain to solve in the Allies favor the whole Balkan and Turkish problems. The Central Empires and their confederate succeeded in a similar aim by applying full force. They fell on Serbia and crushed her.

From that moment all our enemies were in contact and had a through route from Belgium to Mesopotamia. As a point in the game it was valuable enough to delay the Allies' victory for six months or a year. The result might have been worse still, but that the French, with the insight of genius, insisted upon the occupation of the Salonika enclave in a way that would keep for the Allies a strong position in the Balkans and enable them to turn the tables in due time. Nine weary months had to pass, however, and many things had to happen elsewhere before the conjunction of circumstances could become favorable.

III—A CONTINUOUS CHAIN OF ALLIED ARMIES

M. Briand laid down with admirable lucidity and sense the doctrine of the "single front." Many Frenchmen think that by the end of this war their Premier will stand out as great as Gambetta. The theory of the "single front" now seems as obvious as the way of Columbus with the egg. But at the beginning it was by no means equally clear to everybody. It meant that the Allies' interests were all one; that their operations must be concerted and their pressure simultaneous; that no advantage could be gained anywhere but would everywhere assist the cause. As far as possible, these ideas have been applied with the immense effect we know; but the crowning work of full junction between the Allies' armies is yet to be achieved. The completion of that magnificent design is what we hope to see in the next phase of the war.

M. Briand's doctrine can only be interpreted in action with full simplicity and power when the Allies not only operate as if they stood on a "single front," but do indeed possess one continuous front, stretching without interruption from the North Sea shores through Belgium, France, Italy, the Balkans, Roumania and Russia to Riga, with an extension finally bringing the Grand Duke's Army and the British Mesopotamian force into contact in the Middle East. It may take some time, whether months or weeks, to establish the continuous front in the sense of actually riveting the connected chain of armies. We feel confident that it will be done. We see the beginning. The results will be fatal to the enemy.

It does not follow that the drama in the Balkans will rise to the very height of its interest before a little time has passed. We are only at the prelude, but it is remarkable enough. The long interval during which a splendid force was locked up passively in the Balkans has been trying, but the time was not wasted. General Sarrail held down a Bulgarian force which would have been capable of extreme mischief elsewhere, especially at the present juncture, when Turks are fighting even in Galicia. Some dangerous political contingencies which might have given the Central Empires the mastery of the entire Balkans were prevented. Roumania was guarded from undue pressure at the height of the enemy's success. A gallant Serb army was saved and reconstituted and is fighting once more in Macedonia. It became still clearer as time went on that the peninsula must become a theatre of junction for all the Allies if the solution of all their other problems was to be accelerated.

We do not know of any finer thing that could happen both to Portsmouth and to New Boston than the annexation of the smaller city to Portsmouth. Their interests are common, their citizenship of the same stock. Joined together as one city they would continue to grow and make eventually a great and prosperous city. From an economic standpoint New Boston would reap many advantages. Her cost of government would be smaller and she would enjoy many advantages which she does not now possess. If the matter comes to a vote this fall we hope and believe the majority in both places for annexation will be impressively decisive.

In their lust for the sensational metropolitan papers are hitting new strides. One of them sent a young woman reporter out on the streets with instructions to flirt with men and then write up her experiences. She did. She flirted. She found many men to flirt with her. And she touched them up with an artistic hand in her articles.

And what would we all do if we awoke some fine morning and found all of our excellent master bakers snugly reposing behind iron lattice work upon charges of violating the anti-trust laws of the nation!

Father Beaver Finds A Dam

ALL THAT DAY those tired beavers slept. And no wonder! I guess anyone would sleep if he had traveled miles and miles and miles in search of a home and then had such a party as the Wiggleskewens gave, at the end of the journey.

Not until about an hour before twilight did Father Beaver open his eyes. At first he hardly knew where he was. You know how it feels to wake up in a strange place—you look around and nothing seems natural and you think you must be in a dream even though you know you are not. Well, that's just how Father Beaver felt.

Then he opened his eyes a little more, stretched himself and looked around. And the minute he spied Crooked Creek he remembered where he was and all about everything.

"Well," said he briskly, "it's time I went to work!" Just at that minute Mother Beaver opened her eyes too. "What is the world—?" she began as she looked around in a dazed fashion. And then she too remembered and sat up ready to talk to Father Beaver about what they had better do first.

"I must say I like this location on Crooked Creek," said Father Beaver looking around carefully, "but we must find the best place to put our home. The water is too low here. Suppose we explore further up the stream."

"That suits me," said Mother Beaver, "but what about leaving the children?"

That matter was easily settled though, because Bushy and Little Brother Beaver waked up just then and announced that if there was any exploring to be done they meant to go along.

"Very well," laughed Father Beaver good-naturedly, "come along and we'll find something to eat as we go."

Up the stream they started, nibbling at green leaves and bits of tender bark as they went.

"Look at that!" he cried excitedly, "and Policeman Billy said no beavers lived here and we could build any place we wished!"

"Maybe they don't live here," suggested Mother Beaver when she, too, spied the dam; "maybe they do live here and have left the dam."

"Maybe so, maybe so," said Father Beaver. "I'll go see." He swam out to the dam and nosed his way all over it. "You're right," he called back, "that's just what it is. It's deserted; and sadly in need of repair. But we can fix it much easier than we can build a new one. We'll make our home near here."

Bushy and Little Brother squealed with delight and followed Mother Beaver out to help explore the dam.

New York, Sept. 12—Whoever put the nut in the nut sundae has discovered that it costs to keep it there. To the horror of the salesgirl, the stenographer and the reckless spendthrift of the male sex who occasionally runs riot in an ice cream shop, the nut sundae has been advanced in price from ten to fifteen cents.

A fair dispenser of the sundae explained the reason for the boost in price. "The men who used to train the Brazilian monkeys to climb the trees after the nuts are on strike for higher wages and the monkeys have gone out in sympathy with them," she said.

"The English walnut is scarce because of the war, and all we can find out about the hickory nut is that it won't bick anymore. Gee, it's terrible, ain't it?"

"It just goes to show you what happens when you elect a Republican like Teddy Wilson on the Prohibition ticket for president of the United States. If we just had another president like William Jenkins Bryan you can bet your life sundae would not go any higher."

Snow in Colorado! And Colonel Sibley basking in the delightful sunshine and the balmy breezes of the Bermudas.

"How about the butter-nut?" she was asked. "The high cost of butter has unduly cut out so scarce you can't get one for love or money. I understand the cows don't lay any more. But that's just like a cow, ain't it?" And with this she parked her gum and refreshed herself with a chocolate drop.

There are some people in New York who have so little to do that they hunt out odd names on signs. Thus it is that one Anonymous Scout has learned that Judge Bratt has charge of all delinquent juveniles in Bergen county, N. J., and that John Set owns a saloon in Passaic and that Jacob Glasser is a plumber. Over in Hackensack they have a dog catcher, Yelpey, Purps, and a female under sheriff and constable who signs herself Imogene Kopp.

In the good old days when printers followed cops out the windows on Park Row and didn't even mumble when they got Horace Greasley's copy, there were very few business men in New York who could write a legible hand. In fact most of the signatures of the merchant princes in early New York could be easily mistaken for laundry tickets.

This is not the case now, however. I happened to see a bunch of signatures of representative men the other day. Vincent Astor writes a clean-cut business college hand. Samuel Untermyer writes a strong, bold, legible hand, and Copeland Townsend writes a signature that might well grace the old-fashioned calling card—it is that neat.

There is one man in New York, however, who writes his name upside down and backward with his left hand. He is an actor and does it to make people write pieces about him—just as I am doing. He registered in an Atlantic City hotel and the clerk could read it without turning the register around. He rubbed his eyes and turned away to a fellow clerk. "You know," he said, "I've got to lay off the booze. The next thing I'll be standing on my head to read newspapers."

Charlie Somerville, the journalistic prodigy, has a brother Roy who is an expert chemist. To while away dull moments he has been writing moving picture scenarios, and one day, with much hesitancy and greatly abashed, he asked Charlie to look them over.

Charlie thought they were pretty good and all that sort of thing, but chemistry was a good profession—great opportunities for a young man. In fact he considered his brother as good as the average chemist writing scenarios.

Well, the other day Charlie dropped into a Broadway movie palace. The first picture flashed on the screen was by his chemically inclined brother. Also he has signed a contract as chief film writer for a big concern.

LEAVES FOR SANDUSKY

O. R. Faris left Monday afternoon to assume his new duties as manager of the Western Union Telegraph company's office at Sandusky, Ohio.

Here's the human touch in some verses by Mary Starbuck in Life. A girl who doesn't like a baby lacks—oh, well, a whole lot of things. But just read this, and you'll agree with us that Mary knows a thing or two:

She's athletic, academic,
But she's the girl for me,
For I've seen her all unknowing,
With a baby on her knee.

She hugged the dimpled kiddie,
And she tossed him down and fro,
And the little fellow gurgled,
For he liked it, don't you know!

And then she sang a ballad,
The kind that makes you cry,
But the kiddie-boy lay smiling,
Looking off into the sky.

Then his eyelids closed so slowly,
And my girl laid him down,
Kissed his round head very gently,
Turned—and met me with a frown!

She may teat at golf and tennis,
May do awful stunts of Greek.
But I've seen the real, true girlie—
She may hide, but I will seek.

She may play at independence,
She may prate of brains and mind,
But to make that girlie love me
The way I'll surely find.

She may jeer and flout and scorn me,
But I yet will make her see
That the best worth while of all her
Stunts is—just to marry me.

Senator Key Pittman was regaling a Topham dinner party out of his store of political anecdotes.

"You've heard," he said, "of Missouri's famous governor of old time, Claiborne Jackson."

"Jackson was famous, among other things, for having married one at a time, of course—five sisters. When he presented himself to demand the last of these girls, their octogenarian father was very doubtful. A dialogue like this ensued:
"I want Lizzie."
"What?"
"I want you to give me Lizzie."

"Oh, you want Liz, do ye? What for?"
"For my wife!"
"For life, eh?"
"What I mean is—I want to marry her!"
"Oh, yes! Just so! I hear ye, boy!"

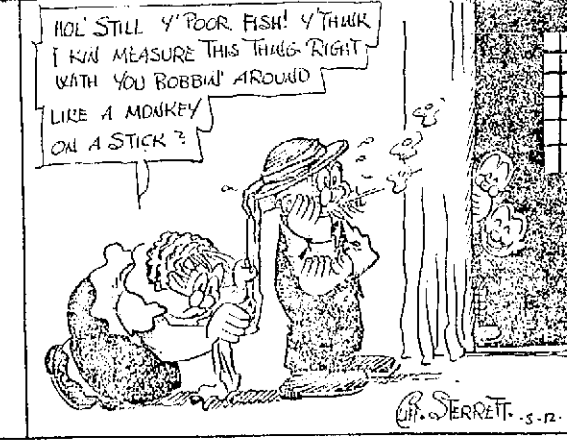

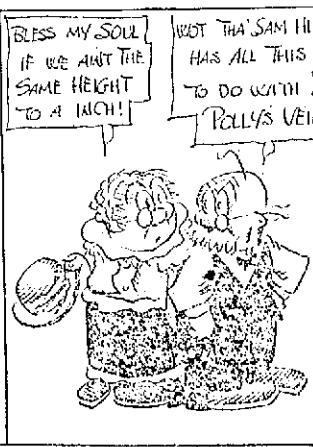

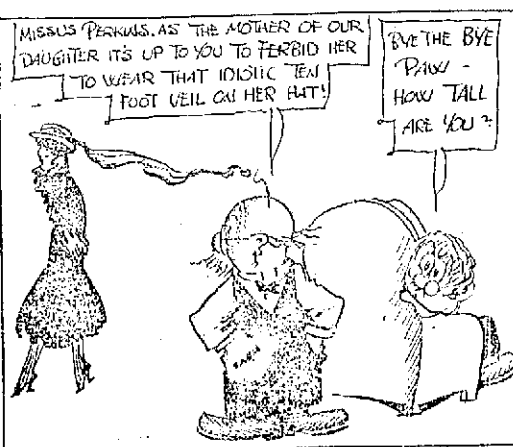

"It's a damned good thing you do!" muttered Governor Claiborne Jackson to himself, and he wiped his wet brow with his coat sleeve.
"Yes," said the old man, "I hear ye. Ye needn't bother so loud the whole neighborhood knows our business. I hear ye, boy, and ye can have her; but if anything happens to that poor, misguided girl, don't come and ask me for the old woman!"—Washington Star.

straggled in today. Revised figures place the plurality of Governor-elect Carl E. Milliken, Republican, over Governor Oakley Curtis, at 13,800. Returns from the border show that the members of the second Maine infantry cast a total vote of 470 of which Milliken received 300.

The following is the vote in previous Maine elections for president and governor:

1908, president, Democratic, 35,403; Republican, 66,987.
1908, Governor, Democratic, 66,075; Republican, 73,728.
1910, Governor, Democratic, 73,425; Republican, 54,672.
1912, Governor, Democratic, 67,748; Republican, 71,043.
1912—President, Wilson, 51,113; Taft—26,545; Roosevelt, 48,483.

Pluralities for the Republicans, who will send a solid delegation to congress, were practically unchanged from the figures of last night as were the pluralities of Frederick Hale and former Governor Bert M. Fernald, who were elected to the United States senate. The Republicans who have held a majority in the state senate, will control both houses by a good working majority. The revised vote completed early this morning for governor, United States senators and congressmen follows:

Governor—Milliken (Rep.) 79,902; Curtis (Dem.) 66,547.
U. S. Senators—Hale (Rep.) 78,041; Fernald (Rep.) 79,368; Johnson (Dem.) 68,273; Sills (Dem.) 66,892.

Congressmen—Goodall (Rep.) 19,732; Stevens (Dem.) 16,103; White (Rep.) 19,137; McGillicuddy (Dem.) 18,770; Peters (Rep.) 21,826; Bunker (Dem.) 18,277; Hersey (Rep.) 15,006; Pierce (Dem.) 11,013.

The Maine Republicans, reinforced by returning Progressives, won a signal victory. They elected a governor, an auditor, two United States senators and four representatives in congress, and wresting control of the state house of representatives from the Democrats, will be able on a joint vote of the legislature to elect the other state officers not chosen by popular vote.

The Republican drift extended to county offices, the greater number of counties choosing Republican county attorneys and sheriffs. These offices are important local ly because the holders are charged with enforcing the prohibition law.

The vote was heavy, as had been expected, for the campaign had been waged with a determination not seen in recent years. The country was searched out for speakers of national prominence and the greater number of them bottled on national issues. The fight was particularly hot for the two United States senatorships and the four places held by Maine in the lower house in Washington.

The Progressives, who two years ago cast 18,226 votes, returned largely to the Republican party in the opinion of Republican leaders.

Senator-Elect Frederick Hale last night sent the following telegram to Charles E. Hughes:

"Maine today has blazed the way for the rest of the country. We have elected our governor, two United States senators and the indications point to a solid Republican delegation in congress. The Progressive party supported the Republican nominee. A reunited Republican party has become a reality in Maine. The campaign was waged and won largely on national issues and the results are a triumphant endorsement of your candidacy or president."

Governor Curtis last night gave this statement:

"From the figures that have been given it looks Milliken. If the Republican ticket does not get 15,000, Wilson is upheld. If Milliken holds that ratio, prohibition wins of course."

London, Sept. 12.—Reports from the Macedonian front today point more strongly than ever to the probability that the present thrust of the entente forces may be the long expected general offensive movement from this base.

Of the armies of five nations assembled on this front, reported from some sources to number 600,000 men the British and French are known to be exerting heavy pressure, the British along the Struma front, northeast of Saloniki, and the French northward along the Vardar on the Serbian border.

The French troops also are co-operating with the British in the more easterly operation where, like their allies they have crossed the Struma, capturing the Villa of Yenimah on the easterly bank, within ten miles of Demir-Hiss.

The British have seized additional trenches across the river to the southeast and according to a news despatch from Athens the Bulgarians are in retreat after a 36-hour battle in which they suffered heavy losses.

Bulgarian Positions Are Penetrated

West of the Vardar, near Majida, four miles south of Giveli Paris reports a vigorous offensive by the French and their allies, resulting in the penetration of Bulgarian positions to a depth of nearly half a mile on a two mile front. The artillery and infantry are also being vigorously employed further west along the front, the entire length of which now seems to be buzzing with activity.

German army headquarters announces heavy fighting along both the Struma and the Vardar, declaring the operations in the latter region resulted successfully for the Bulgarians.

In the Rumanian province of Dobruja the advance of the Bulgarians and Germans, who are commanded by Field Marshal Von Mackensen, is continuing Berlin declares.

Russians Make Further Progress

The Russian campaign in the Carpathians is making further progress according to Petrograd, which reports the capture of Kapul Mountain, near the Bukovina border, and other heights nearby. Berlin announces the repulse of Russian attacks in this sector.

Austrian counter-attacks on positions captured on Sunday by the Italians in the Posina sector of the Trentino were repulsed and further progress has been made by the Italians, Rome announces.

Prisoners Are Given Good Care

Berlin, Sept. 12.—Wireless to Sayville.—Conditions among German prisoners of war interned in Switzerland are satisfactory, according to a report made by Major General Friederich, who recently made a visit of inspection to the Swiss camps, says the Overseas News Agency today.

The quarters provided are adequate in all respects and remarkably good care is taken of the men by the Swiss authorities, the report declares.

Munition Depot Set On Fire

London, Sept. 12.—The following official statement was given out here today:

"Yesterday evening our heavy artillery caused two large conflagrations in the enemy's ammunition depot at Grand Court. There was some hostile activity during the night against our lines between Delvite Wood and Monquet Farm. Otherwise there were no developments."

French Capture Village From Bulgars

London, Sept. 12.—French troops co-operating with the British in the new offensive on the Struma front in Greek Macedonia have captured a village near the Intaglianitsa it was announced officially today. The British forces which crossed the river have seized Bulgarian trenches on the east bank.

French Advance On 2-Mile Front

Paris, Sept. 12.—Via London.—French troops on the Macedonian front taking the offensive against the Bulgarians have captured all the positions of their opponents on a front of two miles to a depth of about 800 yards. It was announced officially today.

Bulgarians Defeated
London, Sept. 12.—The new offensive of the entente allies on the Macedonian front has resulted in the defeat of the Bulgarians.

Austrians Retreat In Transylvania
Vienna, Sept. 12.—Via London.—Austrian troops fighting in Eastern Transylvania have been withdrawn further in front of Rumanian forces, says an official statement issued from Austria-Hungarian headquarters. Rumanian attacks north of Orsova, on the Danube, were repulsed by the Austrians.

Germans Admit Capture of Ginchy
Berlin, Sept. 12.—Official announcement was made today of the capture from the Germans of the town of Ginchy on the Somme front.

The capture of Ginchy was announced by the British war office on Sunday.

Belgian Queen Braves Terrors of Firing Line To Visit Troops

QUEEN ELIZABETH OF BELGIUM.

This photograph shows the Belgian Queen on the occasion of her recent visit to the front, where she braved up the courage of the soldiers of the little kingdom on the firing line.

Reports stated that she had many narrow escapes. One despatch from Paris said that a camera with which she was taking snap shots was pierced by a German rifle bullet.

CHILDREN FED ON PASTEURIZED MILK ESCAPE PLAGUE

New York, Sept. 12.—Nathan Straus, who for twenty-five years has given pasteurized milk to some 2,500 babies in New York, stated that he had written a letter to Surgeon General Rupert Blue, in which he declares that none of the children fed by his milk depots has contracted infantile paralysis. The condition of these babies, said Mr. Straus, "is in no way different from other babies in this city, except that they receive milk that has been made safe food by killing the germs likely to be found in raw milk."

INSPECTS SCHOOLS

Rt. Rev. J. J. Hartley, Bishop of the Catholic diocese of Columbus, inspected the local parochial schools late Monday afternoon.

The bishop came to Portsmouth from Ironton sooner than expected, coming by automobile instead of by rail. Rev. Father P. N. Clark, of Pine Grove accompanying him. The car became disabled at Wheelersburg and they traveled the balance of the distance to Portsmouth by traction car. After a brief pleasure spin over town with Rev. Father T. A. Goebel, Bishop Hartley left for Columbus on N. & W. passenger train No. 15.

Gasoline Drops In Price

Notice the broad grin local automobilists were wearing Tuesday?

Well, there's a reason. The price of gasoline was reduced one cent a gallon Tuesday.

The retail price is now 21 cents.

Applications Received

At the meeting of Seinto Lodge No. 31 I. O. O. F. Monday night two applications were received. The Odd Fellows have arranged to figure prominently in the Fraternal parade to be held during the Korn Carnival.

Labor Leader Gives Out Assuring News

New York, Sept. 12.—The danger of a great general strike to help enforce the demands of the striking traction employees seemed remote today in view of the statement that the only unions likely to be involved in such a movement were those directly concerned with the operations of the street cars. Hugh Fraunce, state organizer for the American Federation of Labor, who made this assertion, said that if a sympathetic strike was called, he probably would not involve more than 60,000 workers. In this class he named engineers, firemen, longshoremen and laborers.

In other respects the strike situation today showed no mitigating features. The strike now involves three counties and the residents of Yonkers, Mount Vernon and New Rochelle are entirely without street car service. Every trolley car in Manhattan and the Bronx remained stationary last night and service was resumed this morning on only a fraction of normal schedules. The Interborough Rapid Transit Company maintains that subway and elevated trains were running regularly, but the strikers declare that they have made inroads on the ranks of the company's motormen. As the result of the limited service on the surface lines, elevated and subway lines are crowded and the suburban service of the New York Central and the New York-New Haven and Hartford Railway systems is congested.

Shanghai, China, Sept. 12.—Chang Ao Tseng, the new minister of justice has been arrested in connection with a gigantic opium smuggling case which threatens to disrupt the cabinet and involve many prominent men in China.

The new minister came to this city from Yunnan Province with several members of parliament and other officials enroute to Peking to participate in the reorganization of the government.

The party came down the Yang Tse and was accorded the privilege of passing its baggage without examination. Rumors of smuggled opium in the baggage of the official party reached customs officers and a search was made while Mr. Chang and his associates were absent from their hotel. In the trunks belonging to Mr. Chang, it is alleged 7,000 pounds of opium was found, in addition to large quantities in the baggage of other members of the party, the total value being estimated at about $1,000,000 Mexican or $500,000 silver.

The seizure was made in the international settlement and warrants for the arrest of the suspected men were issued by the mixed court. Consequently the trial must be before a foreign tribunal, and the Chinese press takes the position that it will be extremely humiliating for high Chinese officials to be tried by a foreign court, especially for the Chinese minister of justice to be arraigned on such a charge.

BAKERS STAND PAT: 6 CENT LOAVES NOW ON SALE

The announcement of Prosecuting Attorney Joseph T. Micklethwait Monday concerning the raise in the price of bread by the local bakers, has created much comment. Considerable speculation has been indulged in since as to whether the bakers would retain their old retail price or continue to charge the new scale. The law, the prosecutor held, made the alleged agreement among the local bakers to raise the price of bread an illegal act, which is punishable by a heavy fine and imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Tuesday morning several local bakers stated that their new retail price on bread was effective. The price charged for a five cent loaf is six cents and for the ten cent loaf twelve cents. Prosecutor Micklethwait stated Tuesday morning that he had information that the new price was being charged but declined to make any statement as to what action he would take. One baker has taken a neutral position, announcing that loaves for both five and six cents were being sold. Most everyone in the city is interested in the wrangle between the bakers and the prosecutor and are watching for developments.

ROOSEVELT TO BE BARRED FROM OHIO

The following from the Cincinnati Enquirer will be read in local political circles with considerable interest:

"Upon must credible authority I based the statement that Theodore Roosevelt will not only be asked to participate in the Ohio campaign, but that he will be forbidden to appear upon the stump in the Buckeye State.

"This remarkable condition of affairs is said to have been disclosed at a meeting in this city on Sunday night, at which were present National Committeeman R. K. Hyndman and a number of prominent Republicans, among which was a liberal proportion of German-Americans.

"It is said that at this meeting great dissatisfaction was expressed over the progress of the Republican campaign throughout the country. It was stated bluntly that the swing of Justice Taft across the continent had not been productive of good for the party, but that, on the contrary, a very general feeling of dissatisfaction has arisen. It was stated that it was the consensus of opinion that Governor Hughes' trip across the continent had not been well timed, and that in his failure to present a concrete issue to the American people, distinct detriment has been done to the Republican cause.

"Exceptions were taken in the meeting to speeches made in the Maine campaign by Colonel Roosevelt. Many there believed that his utterances in the Maine state might be of a palliative nature in that section, but they were certain that repetition of his sentiments regarding the European conflict would arouse open and avowed hostility in Ohio. It was intimated that if the Colonel were to be invited into the Ohio campaign many German-American would consider such action of sufficient enormity to justify them in casting their vote against the candidacy of Mr. Hughes.

"At this juncture, according to report, Mr. Hyndman took the floor and assured those present that it was not the purpose of the Republican National Committee to send Colonel Roosevelt into Ohio. Mr. Hyndman went further and declared that in his capacity as a member of the National Committee he would see to it that no such invitation was extended to Colonel Roosevelt.

"This statement of Mr. Hyndman had an electrical effect upon the assemblage, and expressions of confidence in the ultimate outcome of the campaign were renewed. It is said to have been disclosed at the meeting that there is great dissatisfaction with the conduct of the Republican campaign in Wilcox, but that assurances have been received that the latter is about to retire from the management of the campaign. It is stated that Mr. Wilcox's health is not good and that in all likelihood he will retire from active management at an early date. Mr. Hyndman left for Columbus and New York early yesterday, so that it was impossible to get any confirmation of the story from him."

W. O. W. Carry Off Prizes

Company A, 125th Kentucky Uniform Rank Woodmen of the World of South Portsmouth have arrived home from Camp Patterson, Paris, Tenn., where they attended the annual encampment.

Capt. Nickel and his company won first prize in discipline and third prize in Class A field drill. They also carried off all the prizes for guard duty. Privates Stevenson, Anderson and McMullen won first, second and third prizes for guard duty. Col. C. L. Mather presented Capt. Nickel and Private C. Cooper each with a handsome complimentary medal, and Private McMullen with a gold medal for being the best orderly in camp.

The whole company made quite a hit with everyone in camp and with the citizens of Paris. Mr. Nord, one of the business men, was so taken up with the bunch that he drove the boys around in his Buick touring car and treated them to sodas and sundries before they left.

This was Company A's first trip to encampment and the boys are well pleased with the honors won.

ROAD BIDS WILL BE OPENED SEP. 28

Columbus, O., Sept. 12.—State Highway Commissioner Cowen will receive bids on Thursday, Sept. 28, for the construction of 4.87 miles of road in seventeen counties in Ohio. The work is covered by 21 contracts and the estimated cost is set at $155,424.28. With the opening of these bids, Commissioner Cowen will have let so far this year contracts amounting to nearly seven and a half million dollars and covering the construction of approximately 573 miles of new state aid roads.

The supervision of the state highway department than any state in the union, with the possible exception of New York. The department now has under its supervision work amounting to over thirteen million dollars. Among the contracts to be let September 28, are the following, with the county, the road and the amount of work to be done:
Clinton, Cincinnati-Chillicothe, 0.77; Cayuga, Cleveland-Sandusky, 5.34; Ottawa, Toledo-Elimore, 1.09; Richland, Mansfield-Sheboy, 0.38; Tuscarawas, Canton-Canal Dover, 2.57; Washington, Marietta-McConnellsville, 1.00.

Wednesday Circus Day

Within almost the inaccessible wilds of Nicaragua dwells a strange race, undoubtedly the only remnant of the aboriginal people who inhabited America before the coming of the Red Indian. These people have an ancient civilization of their own, and to see them is to look at a picture of humanity as it was here perhaps five thousand years ago.

Agents of John Robinson's Ten Big Shows penetrated to this isolated region undoubtedly the only living white men who ever returned to tell their story. And they succeeded in bringing with them a band of the native musicians, with their instruments. This is the bamboo Marimba, marvelously sweet in tone and played with great skill by these people. And the music which they produce proves that at some distant period these people had developed the art of music to a high degree. Their airs, while very strange, show astonishing technique.

The above is only one of the novel features which distinguish John Robinson's Ten Big Shows from the ordinary. They will exhibit at Sixteenth and Findlay streets Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Too Much Work; Too Little Exercise; Liver Not Acting

A Wineglassful of Tollo Water Cleans the Liver and Bowels, Makes You Feel Fine In Thirty Minutes.

Concentrated Tollo Water from Dawson Springs, Kentucky, will relieve your clogged liver, really give it a bath, flushing and emptying every tiny bile tube and start you feeling fine in thirty minutes. It gives you quick relief from constipation, biliousness and stomach troubles when drugs have failed. It brings about natural action of the liver and bowels, cleaning out the clogged bile ducts and removing all the poisonous waste matter from the system. Your habits of life—too little exercise, too much work, lots of rich food—require an occasional liver bath to remove the obstructions from the bile tubes and keep your liver, stomach and bowels clean and healthy.

Get a 15-cent bottle of Tollo Water from your druggist. Before breakfast take a third of a tumblerful in a glass of plain water. In thirty minutes it will clean out the liver and stimulate the flow of bile, which is nature's only laxative. You will at once have a clear head and a feeling of energy and ambition that will surprise and delight you. Keep taking it for a few days and your usual good health and color will return. After that an occasional wineglassful before breakfast will keep your liver active and your bowels regular.

Have you any questions on life insurance you would like to ask me?

Why do they do this? Is it because they cannot trust us out of their sight? THE GIRLS.

Young people are human and their desire for pleasure often makes them do indiscreet things which they would not do if they were older and wiser. Your parents know this and want to help you resist a desire that would not be for your good.

Dear Miss Dolly.—To settle an argument, does the top of a wagon wheel move faster in going down than the bottom coming up? TIMES READER.

The wheels will move the same going and coming. I fear the wheels in your head are out of gear.

Dear Dolly.—I went to a picnic with a man I had met before, but it was the first time we had ever gone anywhere together. Another man in the crowd asked a friend of mine if we were engaged, and she told me about it. Do you think I should feel insulted? MARY.

You must have been too familiar or you would not have given that impression. Don't feel insulted, your friend probably did not mean it as an insult.

Dear Dolly.—What would be appropriate for a wedding costume at the parsonage in November? BRIDE-TO-BE.

Anything you want to wear would be appropriate—a dress or suit.

Dear Dolly.—We are two girl chums, and consider ourselves quite attractive, yet we do not seem to attract the boys. Please tell us how to become popular and attractive looking. CHUMS.

To be attractive you must be interesting and interested. Read, study, work and exercise. Have a fixed purpose to get the most out of whatever you undertake. In time you will become so absorbed in what you are doing that you will want to talk about it, and your enthusiasm will interest others. Also, you must listen intelligently to what others have to say to you. There is nothing more attractive to a boy than a pretty, intelligent and sympathetic listener. It will also be necessary to take part in sports or whatever pastimes interest the boys you want to please.

Margaret.—By referring to the "Questions and Answers" in any of the Photo Play Magazines you can find the address of Francis Ford and Grace Canard.

Dear Dolly.—Will you please tell me if the real Buffalo Bill is still living? How is my writing and spelling for a 11-year-old? AMERICAN BEAUTY.

Col. William Cody, (Buffalo Bill) is very much alive. He is scheduled to lead the big parade for the Buffalo Bill 101 Ranch show here next Thursday. Good.

Dear Dolly.—Please help a young man on a social question. I am invited by a girl friend to eat supper—beg pardon, dinner—with her next Sunday evening. I think such affairs are called a six o'clock dinner. Now what I want to know is how long before that hour shall I arrive and how long afterwards shall I remain? EDDIE.

Arrive between 5:30 and 5:45, and leave about 9:30 or 10 o'clock. An invitation to supper is an invitation for the evening also unless otherwise mentioned.

Dear Miss Dolly.—We are a bunch of girls 16 and 17 years old and every time we go anywhere our folks send a chaperone along.

Careless Use of Soap Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mild coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff, and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mild coconut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

How To Be Rid of Disgusting Dandruff

The only way to be permanently rid of disgusting, untidy dandruff is to correct its cause. Washing merely cleanses the scalp for a few days, and the scales form again as thick as ever.

To destroy the dandruff germ and get rid of dandruff for good, part the hair and apply a little of the genuine Parisian Sage directly on the bare scalp, and rub in with the finger tips for a few minutes, until the scalp absorbs it. Go over the entire head in this same manner.

A few days' massage with Parisian Sage will destroy the germs that cause the dandruff to form. The scalp becomes healthy, the hair will grow better and show more life and vitality, and you need never be troubled by dandruff again. Faded, dull or lifeless hair is quickly restored to beauty by this simple process, which is absolutely harmless to hair and scalp, as it contains no poisonous wood alcohol and will not stain the hair or make it greasy.

Parisian Sage can be obtained from Fisher and Streich and druggists everywhere. It is not expensive.

Mr. John Moeller, well-known meat dealer, former city councilman, and Miss Mary Klink were married this morning at eight o'clock, at the home of Rev. L. J. Hopper, pastor of the United Brethren church. Miss Klink is a sister of Mr. Moeller's deceased wife and has kept house for Mr. Moeller since her death. The wedding will come as a surprise to their many friends. After the ceremony they left in the Moeller car in company with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waldron (Katherine Moeller) for a motor trip to Washington, D. C. and Dayton, to be gone a week. On their return they will reside in the Moeller home on Ninth street.

SOCIETY

Attaining the fiftieth, or golden, anniversary of their marriage on that date, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Huels, a highly esteemed couple, residing on Third street, gave up all of Monday to the celebration of this most unusual event. In the morning high mass was celebrated at St. Mary's church, all the relatives in the city and many friends attending. It was the first time "the happy bride," as everyone called Mrs. Huels for the day, has been able to attend church in several years, as she has been quite ill over the greater part of the period, and illness was followed by invalidism. Of late she has shown much improvement, and the happiest incident to the anniversary to all who love and esteem this good woman, is the encouragement that they would soon see her completely recovered.

During the religious services the couple renewed the vows they made at about the same hour, fifty years ago, and which they have kept so faithfully and contentedly, and the pastor, Rev. Father Goebel, took opportunity to felicitate them and to express his pleasure that in their relation as man and wife they have exemplified the church's ideal of marriage, constancy, industry, faithfulness and loyalty and service to God and country. A feature of the mass was a jubilee song in German rendered by a male quartet. Following the religious ceremonies there was a little program at the home that was the greatest delight to the celebrants. This consisted of violin music, songs and addresses that brought back vividly the memories of youth and Fatherland, for it was strictly a gathering of home folks and the program was entirely in German, those rendering it being grandchildren, the sons of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Bickel, of Fort Wayne, and crowning it was a big family dinner.

The portion of the afternoon that remained after these festivities was devoted to receiving callers, who came to offer their congratulations and admire the presents, which were numerous and handsome. During its course many telegrams were received from widely scattered parts. At eight o'clock in the evening a sumptuous dinner was served at Seel's parlor. The tables were set tastefully, the decorations being cut flowers, place cards and dainty souvenirs. Those sitting down to it were the bride and groom, Rev. Father Goebel, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Bickel, daughter and their sons, Maurice, Howard, Richard and Robert, Mr. Herman Huels, son, and children, Ralph and Edward, Mr. Charles Huels, son, Miss Ottilie Huels, daughter, Mr. Albert Huels, son, and friend, Dr. David Boper, of New York, Mr. and Mrs. B. Augustin, Mesdames Adolph Harsh, Sr., Louise Balmert, August Meier, P. G. Balmert, Charles Weber and Mary Pfeiffer, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Russell, Mr. John Bishop, and Mr. Valere Harold. Other guests invited were Misses Mary Almon and Lydia Williams and Mr. Adolph Harsh, detained at home by illness, and Mr. Charles Weber called out of the city on business. After the dinner there was a bit of impromptu speaking, Mr. Harold officiating as toast-master and introducing Rev. Father Goebel, Mr. Augustin and Mrs. Louise Balmert. Heartily and cordially they one and all extended the good wishes of themselves, the guests and the public to the hosts, made them Godspeed of many years yet of health and contentment, the joyousness that had prevailed throughout the discussing of the many rising to high merriment over some of the remarks. Cards followed the dinner. During the whole evening selections were played on the violin and the piano by Prof. Mastropolo and Mrs. Chris Hanson. The only little cloud on a wondrous anniversary and a faultless day was the fact that owing to a quarantine in New York City, grandchildren who live there were not permitted to leave, and so could not be present for the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Huels were both born in Germany and came to this country when young. Mr. Huels is a doctor by profession, and he has traveled over and is said to have many links. For the reason of his many links, the father of any trouble to be a real journeyman, that is, he should travel from city to city, or from country to country, acquiring experience, skill, knowledge and the better practices of his calling. It was through his profession that he met the companion that has so devotedly and helpfully traveled by his side through the long stretch of time. For the father of Pauline Duerber himself was a dyer at Chillicothe, and needing a journeyman and having heard of a young man in Cincinnati that had much skill and industry at his trade, he sent for him. He proved to be Herman Huels, and it was but natural the tall and handsome employee should fall in love with the comely and prudent daughter of his employer. So they were married. In 1870 they came to Portsmouth, where Mr. Huels entered the dyeing business on his own account, and has continued in it ever since, though, of course, he no longer carries it on with that intensity of application and work that brought a sufficiency to maintain him and his through declining years without toil. As citizens, neighbors, exemplifying the qualities of industry, sobriety, thrift, kindness and helpfulness, none stand higher, none are more entitled to regard and none more fully receive it than Mr. and Mrs. Herman Huels. Mr. Huels himself has occupied a number of public places and trusts and has been noted for the courageous, honest and intelligent manner in which he met the obligations thereof.

A delightful party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Egbert, Saturday evening, in honor of their daughter, Miss Mamie, the occasion being her eighteenth birthday anniversary. The dining-room, in which the refreshments were served, was beautifully decorated in green and gold. Ice cream, cake and mints were served. Mrs. William Egbert was assisted by Mrs. Fred Egbert and Miss Viola Widdig in serving the refreshments. The guests present were the Misses Hope Brown, of Stockdale, Louise Brand, of Wakefield, Norma Conkle, Mary and Emma Field, Marjorie Pulver, Bonnie Moore, Verma Wagner, Valley Newman, Macie McNamer, Margaret Hickman, Viola Widdig, Katherine and Mamie Egbert, and Messrs. Granville McNamer, Clifford Brown, of Stockdale, Don Widdig, Vernon Ruth, William and Arthur Conkle, Fred Dever, Marion Egbert, Arthur Crabtree, Leroy Field and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Egbert and sons, Gilbert and Eugene. Many beautiful presents were received.

The marriage of Miss Kathryn Kuhnner, of Columbus, and Mr. Ernest Dunsford, of Palatka, Florida, which took place in Portsmouth, O., August 24, 1916, has just been announced. Mr. Dunsford, who for four years was a student at Ohio State University, has accepted a position with the American Steel company of Alliance, O., in which city the couple will be at home after October 1.—Columbus Dispatch.

Mrs. Abe Mayer has returned from a week's visit to relatives in Zanesville.

Miss Hannah Levi, of Zanesville, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Abe Mayer, of Fourth and Bond streets.

Miss Amelia Graves, chief operator at the Portsmouth Home Telephone Company's exchange, is spending a few days in Cleveland.

Mrs. C. C. Coverston, county president of the W. C. T. U., reports the Henrietta Evans Union the banner union of the county, they having voted at last evening's meeting to send the state paper, The Ohio Messenger, to every member of the Union.

Greer W. M. Payne, of Second and Jefferson streets, and family, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Payne, at McDermott.

Grape-Nuts

Gets Attention—

First, because of its wonderfully delicious flavor—

Then again, because it is ready to eat—fresh and crisp from the package.

But the big "get attention" quality is its abundance of well-balanced, easily digestible nourishment.

For sound health, every table should have its daily ration of Grape-Nuts—

Outlook At Ann Arbor

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 12.—The big effort of coaches that ever trained a team will help Fielding H. Yost to develop a team with a none too good chance of winning the national championship this year.

Yost, who has been coaching at Ann Arbor since 1905, has a record of 100 wins and 10 losses. He is one of the best coaches in the country. He has coached the Wolverines to three national championships and to 10 Big Ten championships.

The Wolverines are expected to be one of the best teams in the country this year. They have a powerful line from tackle to punter. The backfield is one of the best in the country. The team is expected to be one of the favorites to win the national championship.

Senreco

Senreco, the formula of a dental specialist, REALLY CLEANS. It embodies specially prepared, soluble granules unusually effective in cleaning away food deposits. Moreover, it is particularly destructive to the germ of Pyorrhea.

Greatest enemies of your TEETH

Pyorrhea and decay. Senreco usually develop only in the mouth where germ-laden tartar is present.

"But I brush my teeth," you say.

Yes, you brush them, but do you REALLY CLEAN them?

Tonight, after brushing your teeth, go to the mirror and examine them. In all probability you will find an accumulation of tartar on the enamel and bits of food deposit hiding in the crevices.

"PREPARENESS" See your dentist twice yearly. Use Senreco twice daily.

Hogarth Used To Forget

William Hogarth the famous English artist, was so absent-minded he caused his friends much entertainment. When he was prosperous enough to have his own carriage he first used it to make a call upon the lord mayor. When he came out of the Mansion House it was raining hard, and the artist tramped the entire way home, wet to the skin. When asked why he had not come in his carriage he said he forgot all about it, and a messenger had to be dispatched to the coachman to tell him to return.

CROWN PRINCE RUPRECHT IN COMMAND ON SOMME

Berlin, Sept. 11.—(Via London, Sept. 12.)—Crown Prince Ruprecht, of Bavaria, has now assumed the over-command of the German armies on the Somme front. He is entrusted with the general directions against the Anglo-French offensive. All troops assigned to this task are placed under his control, making possible the distribution of reserves and the employment of all the means of war to the best advantage under a unified plan.

The appointment of Prince Ruprecht was effective before the latest visit of an Associated Press correspondent to Bapaume last week, but the news could not be cabled until the announcement was made in the official army headquarters report of today, which reveals a general re-arrangement of commands brought about by the appointment of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg as chief of staff. The new order divides the western front into three sectors, and assigns those to three princely commanders who, regardless of reasons of policy which dictated their appointments to command of armies at the beginning of the war, have won their spurs by the successful conduct of operations. They are regarded here not as figureheads, but as generals of distinction. Duke Albrecht, prospective heir to the Kingdom of Wurttemberg, who is in command of the northern sector before the war, has risen to the rank of general and corps commander. He inflicted the first great defeat on the French in the dash northward through Belgium. Crown Prince Ruprecht, in command of the Central Sector, was the victor in the battle in Lorraine which crushed and repulsed the French invasion of Germany in 1911. The German Crown Prince has the over-command in the Verdun sector.

Harold Lockwood and May Allison in "The Come Back" Columbia Tonight

Harold Lockwood and May Allison, one of the most popular stellar combinations in motion pictures, will make their debut on the Metro program in "The Come Back", a gripping five-part production which will be presented at the Columbia tonight.

Until recently, Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison have been seen starring on the American-Mutual program. Before that both were stars with the Famous Players, where they made many notable feature productions. But they were glad to get on the Metro program, under its unique and popular starring system, and pleased to be with Mr. Balshofer, one of the foremost directors of the country. Mr. Balshofer has exercised special care to select many interesting glimpses of New York society for a contrast in romance, adventure and the spirit of the great outdoors predominates. It is in such productions that this couple have always excelled and which have won for them thousands of admirers in every quarter of the globe. Mr. Lockwood is one of the best fearless artists now acting before the camera, and always takes a keen delight in doing so-called "stunts of the most dangerous character. He has been injured repeatedly through his daring, but never discouraged.

"The Come Back" is one of the strongest features in which Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison have appeared. It deals, for the most part, with life in the logging camps of Northern Maine, with many interesting glimpses of New York society for a contrast in intense story of today.

Gail Kane in "Paying the Price" At Lyric Tomorrow.

"Paying the Price," the World Film feature in five reels, in which Gail Kane will make her initial appearance in a World Film production, based on the fascinating naval story by Burton E. Stevenson, will be the attraction coming at the Lyric tomorrow. In this picture, the United States government co-operated with the producing company in procuring the proper atmosphere to stage this story technically correct, and to that end, Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, gave permission to the World Film Corporation to take scenes on and from the torpedo boat destroyer number 60, the Wadsworth, and from this boat two regulation size torpedoes, each costing in excess of $4,500, were fired and exploded. Persons desiring a sweet love story, excellent acting and atmosphere supreme, besides seeing a torpedo boat at close range, with its shooting torpedo and its wake until it reaches the derelict, which was blown up to give this picture a strong touch of realism. Gail Kane, the World Film favorite, plays the leading role, and she is admirably well supported by Gladys James, June Elvidge and Robert Cummings.

At the Exhibit

"Tangled Skeins" is a three-part American drama featuring Vivian Rich and Alfred Cosburgh, the leading American stars. The story on which this three reel play is based is a good one and it contains many dramatic scenes that are intensely interesting to all. The production contains pastoral scenes of great beauty and individual scenes that are appealing. The action of the play is very effective. Vivian Rich does some good work in the leads and is ably supported by all members of the cast.

"Bungling Bill's Dress Suit" is a screaming Vaudeville comedy bubbling over with laughter from the start to the finish. A comedy of riotous humor causing laugh after laugh. Tomorrow's production is a five reel Mutual Masterpiece entitled "The Dead Alive," in which Marguerite Courtot takes the leading role.

At the Arcana

Today is shown two more reels of that new thrilling Western series of Kalem pictures entitled "The Girl From Frisco" which comes every Tuesday to the Arcana. This is not a serial but a series of interesting and exciting Western stories. "The Oil Field Plot" is the title of today's two reels of the series. "The Come On" is a comedy of laughs followed by "The Phone Message" a

Temple Theatre Today

The big feature tonight is a Kalem railroad drama featuring the railroad story star, Helen Holmes. It is entitled "The Treasure Train," an exciting one-reel. The three-reel is a Vaudeville comedy entitled "Bully Don." Five reels every night and the price is only 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRICAL

The Sun Theatre
The new Sun inaugurated their new policy yesterday and it bids fair to be a success judging from crowds that attended the shows, matinee and night. The management has arranged to present three reels of the General Film Service pictures at each performance changing daily. The feature today "The Private Officer" in two parts and a comedy "Wait a Minute." The vaudeville was furnished by Gracey's Colonial Maids, presenting "The Girl From Broadway," one of the classic musical comedies of the season.

During the run of the show a number of excellent vaudeville acts are introduced. The feature, Gracey's musical act, which is a novelty seldom seen outside of the larger cities, Wentworth and Young presented a singing and dancing act far above the average and was compelled to take numerous encores. The Colonial Quartet, those harmony boys with a repertoire of good clean songs, was a decided hit. Alice Hamond the English fancy dancer captivated her audience with her graceful and artistic dances. Billy Berning and Lep Meyers furnished the comedy end of the bill and kept their audience in a roar of laughter. Saturday afternoon a special matinee will be given for the children. All children under 12 will be admitted for five cents. Pictures and vaudeville, two shows in one for one price of admission.

Might Spare a Few.

It is said that never was there a gentler critic than Dr. McClinck of Dickinson college. One day a young orator presented his speech for Dr. McClinck's approval. He evidently did not anticipate adverse criticism. He received it nevertheless, given in the doctor's gentle, humorous way, which never could offend.

"It's a good speech," he said, "but there is perhaps a little too much of a certain sort of rhetoric. For instance, I find in it two midnight owls, two midnight wolves, three American eagles and four unfurled banners. It seems to me that the supply exceeds the demand."

MAGNESIA FOR DYSPEPTICS

Why Physicians Prefer It To Drugs.

"Only those in constant touch with sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia can fully realize the harm done by the improper use of drugs and artificial digestants," remarked a well known New York physician recently. Personally I rarely advocate the use of drugs in the treatment of digestive or stomach troubles, for in practically every instance I have proved the underlying cause to be excessive acidity of the stomach and consequent fermentation or souring of the food contents.

"Therefore in place of the once widely used drugs I invariably recommend the use of bisurated magnesia to neutralize the stomach acidity and stop the food fermenting, and the wonderful results I have obtained during the past three years convince me there is no finer treatment for digestion, dyspepsia, etc. It must, of course, be clearly understood that I do not employ or advise the use of such forms of magnesia as citrates, acetates, carbonates, sulphates, etc. These might often do more harm than good; nothing but pure bisurated magnesia should be used to neutralize an acid stomach. This is not at all difficult of obtaining—in fact, I find that most druggists now keep the genuine bisurated magnesia in tablet form in addition to the ordinary bisurated powder. A teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets taken with a little water after meals will usually be found quite sufficient to instantly neutralize the acidity and prevent food fermentation, thereby insuring painless natural digestion for even chronic sufferers."

To Make Mushroom Ketchup.
"Mushroom ketchup may be made after the following recipe," says a writer in Farm and Fireside:
"One peck mushrooms, carefully picked over; one pint vinegar, two tablespoonfuls salt, one-half teaspoonful cayenne, two tablespoonfuls mustard, one tablespoonful cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful mace, one-half tablespoonful cloves.
"Cook the mushrooms with one cupful of water until quite tender and rub them through a colander. Add to this pulp the vinegar and spices and cook about half an hour longer. Bottle and seal.
"This sauce is delicious with fish, steak and cold meat."

Ironton And Korn Carnival

There will be a special train to Ironton, Thursday evening, with a special rate, R. E. Scott, passenger agent for the Norfolk and Western railroad, announced Monday evening at the joint meeting of the directors of the Business Men's Association and the chairman of the general Korn Carnival committees, held at the Masonic Temple.

The special will leave here at 6:15 Thursday evening, and returning will leave Ironton at 10:30. The fare, round trip, will be 80 cents.

There will also be specials on Thursday and Saturday nights of the Korn Carnival. The time of leaving and arrival of these trains on the various divisions will be announced later.

It was decided by the directors that the regular passenger service of the Norfolk and Western would meet the demands of the local people who intend to visit the Chillicothe Farmers' Fall Festival next week. A large delegation expect to go to Chillicothe.

Matters pertaining to the Greater 1916 Korn Carnival are rapidly shaping themselves under the direction of the committees.

The parades under the general leadership of Albert F. Marling will be the big feature. Each promises to be an interesting, interesting and educational. The Industrial parade will be the largest event of the Korn Carnival. Paul Esselhorn stated that twenty-eight organizations had already joined in the movement and others were expected. Surprises are being kept quiet until the evening of the parade. The children's parade is always interesting. A letter was received from Rev. J. E. McGuirk, pastor of the Holy Redeemer church, stating that the children of the Holy Redeemer school would be unable to participate in the children's parade this year. The congregation has been placed at considerable expense, the pastor explains, for the erection of a new school and feel that additional expenses should not be incurred this year.

Otto Zollner, chairman of the farmers' parade, has mailed letters to the farmers of the county asking them to participate and has received several replies.

The automobile parade is, of course, booming. This is one of the popular parades. But little preparation is needed for the masked parade. Most every one joins in this festivity and enjoys the electric hours of the carnival.

Charles Dixon, official decorator, expects to have the Korn Carnival decorations up several days before the opening day.

William Z. Tritschler was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for the lighting of the parade.

About two-thirds of the amount required to defray the expenses of the annual festival has been raised, according to W. W. Anderson, chairman of the financial committee. The remaining third is expected to be raised before the opening day.

The executive committee will hold a meeting Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

Every day that the TIMES is published, builders list their bargains on TIMES WANT AD page.

City To Be Elaborately Decorated

Portsmouth, that is the down town business streets, will in a few days be literally bathed in Korn Carnival colors and the patriotic colors of red, white and blue.

Charles Dixon, who again has the contract to decorate the business district, opened headquarters in the Bannock block on Gallia street Monday and began soliciting orders for decorations. In a few hours he received over 50 orders. He is being assisted by Fred W. Reh, who stated today that a half ton of new flags and bunting had been secured for decorative purposes during the K. K.

Finds Man With His Wife;
Stabs Him Near The Heart

Homer Martin, aged 22 years, of Columbus, claiming to be a bootmaker by occupation, was stabbed near the heart and seriously wounded by Ernest Seaff, aged 22, a teamster, when the latter found him with his wife, Mrs. Verda Seaff, at the Seaff home near Twelfth and Waller streets Monday night at 11 o'clock.

Martin now lies in a serious condition at Hopstead hospital while the knife user is locked up at the city prison, charged with cutting to kill and his wife is held as a witness. Martin spent a very restless night but was reported feeling better Tuesday morning.

Seaff admits the cutting, which was done with an ordinary pocket knife. He drives a team for the S. Monroe & Son company on the new flood wall work and said when he reached his home after quitting time Monday evening he found his wife and Martin drinking from a can of beer and no supper prepared. He said he asked her when she expected to have his evening meal ready for him but she gave no satisfactory reply. Martin asked him to have a glass of beer but he refused. He said he left them sitting together and repaired to the home of his stepmother, Mrs. Emma Jackson, of Thirteenth street.

Later he said he met Patrolman Tom Albrecht and told him about Martin's visits to his home. He said he afterwards started to go home but the sight of Martin sitting in a rocking chair out in front of his house caused him to change his mind and he walked right past him, going to the home of his brother, George Seaff, at Eleventh and Waller streets. He said he remained there until close to 11 o'clock by which time he thought Martin had surely taken his departure. When he reached the house he said he found all of the windows and doors locked. He managed to shake a stick prop loose from one window and raising the window he climbed into the house. He said he found the couple together. This so angered him that he plunged the knife into the sleeping man.

Seaff ran from the house immediately after the cutting but the police found him at the home of his brother at 2 o'clock. Martin displayed a remarkable grit, walking from the Seaff home to Dr. W. D. Nicklethwait's office at Eleventh and Offshore streets, Mrs. Seaff accompanying him. It was some time after midnight when they reached the physician's office. An examination showed that the knife had entered Martin's body just below the apex of the heart on the left side. Had it pointed upward he would have been instantly killed. Dr. Nicklethwait removed him to the hospital in his automobile.

Martin boarded at the home of his uncle, George Spence, huckster of 1514 Tenth street, for whom he had been working as a driver. His relatives in Columbus are said to be very respectable people.

Seaff claims that Martin has been a frequent visitor to his home. Mrs. Seaff, while admitting that Martin was in the house, maintained that the cutting was unjustifiable, saying she was obliged to make her own living and that Seaff forced her to accept the attentions of other men and that he made her turn money thus gained over to him. She is a daughter of Jim Pitts, of Mill street.

Mother And Four Little Children In Need Of Aid

Claiming to have been cast out by her husband's relatives and stranded here among strangers, with her four little children, the youngest but a few months old, Mrs. Arthur McGinnis, of Newberry, Mich., appealed to the city officials for relief Tuesday morning.

The unfortunates had just arrived from Greenup, Ky., on an early C. & O. train. She said her father-in-law, Robert McGinnis, a farmer, had sent them to Portsmouth, telling her that the city officials here would give her a ticket for Newberry, Mich. She said he did not give her a cent of money along for the trip.

The young woman said her husband had been employed in an insurance agency in Michigan and finally lost his reason himself. She said after he began recovering she brought him to his people at Greenup, she also bringing the children, because she felt her husband had been a charge upon her relatives at Newberry for a considerable length of time, and that they might as well live off the McGinnis family for awhile. She said her husband was still at Greenup, but no longer seemed disposed to do anything for her and the children.

The public safety department officials having no other alternative under the law, the family being non-residents, decided to send them back to Greenup. After having been heard for about police headquarters the greater part of the day, the family were given tickets over the C. & O. to Greenup.

Walker Lumber And Veneer Plant
At Mound City Destroyed By Fire

Fire, which had its origin in the packing room of the Walker Lumber and Veneer company's plant, located in Mound City, Ill., was discovered at 11 o'clock last night and by one o'clock this morning it was reduced to ashes. The boiler plant, which is located outside of the levee near the main plant was saved. The loss is estimated at $25,000 with $20,000 insurance.

The plant is leased and operated by the Portsmouth Veneer and Panel company of this city, who operate a plant on Mill street. U. A. Swishelm acts as manager of the Mound City plant and the one here. He is in Columbus on business.

A. T. Holcomb, U. A. Swishelm, John Lange and Mrs. W. S. Walker were owners of the Mound City plant.

At one o'clock this morning G. E. Jaynes, bookkeeper for the Portsmouth Veneer and Panel company was called out of bed at his home on Fifth street by a long distance telephone message and notified of the misfortune that had come to his firm. He talked with R. L. Yunker, foreman of the Mound City plant and he informed Mr. Jaynes that the fire was discovered in the packing room and spread so rapidly that the boiler plant was the only portion saved, it being located outside of the levee.

The plant gave employment to from 80 to 100 employees and turned out rotary cut veneer.

AUTO IS STOLEN

Ironton, Sept. 12.—Sheriff Sloan Monday received a communication from Firebrick, this county that an automobile had been stolen. Immediately Deputy Sheriff Hutchinson was dispatched to the scene to try to apprehend the thief.

Thieves raided local machines parked at Firebrick Saturday night while the owners and occupants enjoyed a dance in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton.

Responses are being received from the invitation mailed Monday to the various owners of automobiles in the county, asking them to join in the automobile parade which will be the big feature of the Korn Carnival Friday evening, September 29.

An invitation was mailed to every owner listed in the new guide. Those not receiving cards are requested to notify R. E. Thomas, secretary of the Business Men's Association.

Those who have responded to the call are: W. E. Rubman, J. M. Stockham, C. C. Hoer, C. W. Seaggs, John W. Flood, M. P. Pfeiffer, Homer C. Selby, C. A. Patton, Louis Azar, Dr. W. G. Indoor Life Makes Fat

Try Oil of Korein to Keep Weight Down, or to Reduce Superfluous Fat

People who are confined within doors and who are deprived of fresh, invigorating air and exercise must take precaution to guard against over-stoutness, as fat acquired by indoor life is unhealthy and a danger to the vital organs of the body. Lack of exercise in the fresh air weakens the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, so that it is unable to produce strong muscles and vitality and the formation of unsightly and unhealthy fat is the result.

If you are 15 or 20 pounds above normal weight you are daily drawing on your reserve strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Any person who is satisfied in their own mind that they are too stout are advised to go to a good druggist and get a box of Oil of Korein capsules, and take one after each meal and one just before retiring at night.

Even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, digestion and a return of the old energy; footsteps become lighter, and the skin less flabby in appearance as superfluous fat disappears.

Oil of Korein is inexpensive, cannot injure, helps the digestion. Any person who wants to reduce their weight 15 or 20 pounds is advised to give this treatment a trial.

Robert Riley Crushed To Death In Clay Mine Near Fullerton

Maloneton Young Man. Caught By Avalanche; Workman Finds Body

Robert Riley, aged 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Riley, residents of Maloneton, Ky., six miles back of Fullerton, was crushed to death Tuesday afternoon when he was caught in a cave-in that took place in a clay mine in which he was working.

When found by Robert Roe, a fellow workman, Riley was dead and his body was almost entirely concealed by an avalanche of clay, which evidently let go without warning and buried Riley, who was alone at the time he met a tragic death. The mine is owned by the Charles Taylor Sons company who operates a brick plant in Fullerton.

Riley's body was removed from the mine at 2:45 this afternoon and was taken to the home of the dead man's parents, who reside near Maloneton.

In addition to his parents the dead man leaves four brothers, George, Thomas, John and Ernest and one sister, Jennie. Riley was an industrious young man and was well known in Fullerton, Maloneton and Argemont.

YOUNG MAN IS HIT BY N. & W. TRAIN

Ray Brooks, 20, resident of Winchester, O., who was seriously injured Tuesday morning at 1:30 a. m. at Macon, near Winchester on the Cincinnati division of the N. & W., when he was struck by an N. & W. freight train, was brought to Hopstead hospital about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning in an ambulance moving him from the train to the hospital.

Brooks was walking on the N. & W. tracks and was struck by train 1925. His right leg was broken and his right shoulder was dislocated. The train was making 25 miles an hour when Fireman H. Mallow noticed a body lying to one side of the track and land in a ditch alongside the track. Head brakeman H. Davis investigated when the train was brought to a stop and he found a handkerchief on the pilot of the engine.

A search along the track resulted in the finding of Brooks. He was picked up a short time later by time freight No. 84 and taken to Winchester, where a company surgeon gave him first aid and made him comfortable for the night.

DUMP FIRES STARTED

The fire department was called to the Union street dump Monday to protect nearby property against danger from a fire started there by the S. Monroe & Son company, for the two-fold purpose of clearing a way through it for the new flood wall, and also eliminating an unbearable stench. The dump was first saturated with oil and while residents of the neighborhood were almost "smoked out," the officials feel the relief that is sure to come later will offset any discomfort they have suffered.

The fire department was also called to the rear of the Stockham ice plant Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock to fight a dump fire. Someone had set fire to a pile of 15,000 cross-ties just dumped there by the N. & W. The prompt arrival of the firemen saved all but a few ties from destruction.

Train Was Delayed

N. & W. passenger train due here at 4 a. m. each morning from the east, arrived at eight o'clock Tuesday morning. The train was delayed by an accident on the Norfolk division. As soon as word reached Roanoke that No. 3 would be late a train was made up there and sent through as first No. 3 on time.

Damascus Olive Groves.

There is an ancient custom under which the olive groves around Damascus are guarded by official watchmen to prevent the trees being stripped of their fruit. But on a certain date the governor or some magistrate issues a proclamation warning all owners of olive trees that they must pick their fruit, for after a certain date it becomes public property. If a farmer has his crop only half gathered when that date arrives the public will gather it for him. —London Globe.

Suit On A Note

Frank Rayburn filed suit in the local court of common pleas Tuesday against Frederick P. Weghorst et al, asking judgment for $175, with accrued interest from December 14, 1912, alleged due on a promissory note. The instrument was executed in favor of G. W. Spencer. It is claimed and afterwards transferred to Jacob Klein then to W. H. Alcorn and the plaintiff purchased it from Alcorn.

The note was secured by a mortgage, it is alleged. Attorney Theo. K. Funk represents the plaintiff.

Troop Eight Holds Rally

Troop eight Boy Scouts held their annual fall rally last night at Manly M. E. church with a fine crowd out. This was undoubtedly one of the most interesting meetings the troop has held in the past year, and was characterized by an unusual amount of enthusiasm. Three fine and interesting accounts of the troop's camping trip to Carter Caves was given by Scouts Frank Davis, Arthur Eisenhugel and Harold Sayre. Next was a symposium conducted by M. H. F. Kinsey, Scoutmaster, in which every Scout present gave a very interesting account of how he spent his summer vacation. Arthur Doll was elected to look after the troop's winter athletics, and the Scoutmaster announced that the annual election of officers would be held on the coming Monday evening when new patrol leaders and scribe will be elected. This was annual registration night when each member registered and paid their annual dues.

Woman Poker Player Fires Shots At The Man Who Won

Following a little game of poker at the Reinhart-Dennis Construction camp, near Sciotoville Sunday afternoon, a negress named Lulu Jones, whipped out a 38-calibre pistol and took three shots at her successful opponent, William Holdscrow, 26, as he was making desperate efforts to place about four shanties between him and the woman. All three bullets went wild. Both were arrested Tuesday and placed in the county jail, pending a hearing.

From information received by Deputy Sheriff Rome Arthur, the Jones woman and Holdscrow were having a poker game when both became involved in a violent argument. The woman grabbed for her gun and Holdscrow made a wild scramble for a place of safety.

When arrested Tuesday, Lulu was found armed "to the teeth." She had an ugly looking razor and a 38-calibre Smith and Wesson pistol.

Panama Indians.

The San Blas Indians, who occupy the north coast of the republic of Panama from a point a few miles west of the Gulf of San Blas to Cape Tiburon, on the Colombia frontier, are well known as dwellers in the canal zone, which they frequently visit, but are by no means inclined to receive visits in return. They have resolutely maintained their independence, preserved their territory from foreign exploitation and kept their blood and racial characteristics pure. J. G. Steese, writing of these people in the Bulletin of the American Geographical Society, says that they keep up the custom of requiring traders who visit their coast to return to their ships at sundown.

REPUBLICANS SWEEP MAINE

Danger Of General Strike In New York Appears Remote

MILLIKEN'S PLURALITY IS PLACED AT 13,355; G. O. P. SENDS A SOLID BODY TO CONGRESS

RESULTS OF PREVIOUS MAINE ELECTIONS

In 1892 the Republican majority was 12,500.
In 1896 the Republican majority was 45,777.
In 1900 the Republican majority was 28,613.
In 1904 the Republican majority was 36,807.
In 1908 the Republican majority was 30,584.
In 1912 the vote for Taft, added to the vote for Roosevelt, was in excess of Wilson's vote by 23,925.
In 1916 the Republican majority was 13,355.

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—The thoroughness of the Republican victory at the polls yesterday was emphasized as the returns from isolated towns and plantations straggled in today. Revised figures place the plurality of Governor-elect Carl E. Milliken, Republican, over Governor Oakley Curtis at 13,355. Returns from the border show that the members of the second Maine infantry cast a total vote of 470 of which Milliken received 300.

Pluralities for the Republicans, who will send a solid delegation to congress, were practically unchanged from the figures of last year as were the pluralities of Frederick Hale and former Governor Herbert M. Fernald, who were elected to the United States senate. The Republicans who have held a majority in the state senate, will control both houses by a good working majority. The revised vote for governor, U. S. senators and congressmen follows:

Governor—Milliken (Rep.) 79,921; Curtis (Dem.) 66,547.
U. S. Senators—Hale (Rep.) 79,944; Fernald (Rep.) 79,368; Johnson (Dem.) 68,273; Sills (Dem.) 66,822.
Congressmen—Goodall (Rep.) 16,103; Stevens (Dem.) 16,103; Wilcox (Rep.) 15,157; McGibbon (Dem.) 15,770; Peters (Rep.) 21,820; Bunker (Dem.) 21,770; Hervey (Rep.) 15,066; Peters (Dem.) 11,013.

The Maine Republicans, reinforced by returning Progressives, won a signal victory. They elected a governor, an auditor, two United States senators and four representatives in congress, and gained control of the state house of representatives from the Democrats, will be able to elect the officers of the legislature to elect the officers of the legislature not chosen by the voters.

The Republican drift extended to the offices, the greater number of counties choosing Republican attorneys and sheriffs. These offices are important local offices and the holders are charged with enforcing the prohibition law.

The vote was heavy, as had been expected, for the campaign had been waged with a determination to win in recent years. The election was searched out for signs of national prominence and the greater number of them were on national issues. The fight was particularly hot for the two United States senators and the four places held by Maine in the lower house in Washington. The Progressives, who two years ago lost 18,226 votes, returned largely to the Republican party in the opinion of Republican leaders.

Senator-elect Frederick Hale last night sent the following telegram to Charles E. Hughes: "Maine today has blazed the way for the rest of the country. We have elected our governor, two United States senators and the indications point to a solid Republican delegation in congress. The Progressive party supported the Republican nominee. A reunited Republican party has become a reality in Maine. The campaign was waged and won largely on national issues and the results are a triumphant endorsement of your candidacy or presidency."

Governor Curtis last night gave this statement: "From the figures that have been given it looks Milliken. If the Republican ticket does not get 15,000, Wilson is upheld. If Milliken holds that ratio, prohibition wins of course."

Generous Attention.
"Why do you worry that public men by trying to interview him?"
"So as to save him the decidedly greater anxiety he'd suffer if he thought that nobody cared to interview him."—Washington Star.

ROAD BIDS WILL BE OPENED SEP. 28

Columbus, O., Sept. 12.—State Highway Commissioner Cullen will receive bids on Thursday, Sept. 28, for the construction of 1.87 miles of road in seventeen counties in Ohio. The work is covered by 21 contracts and the estimated cost is set at $433,424.23. With the opening of these bids, Commissioner Cullen will have let so far this year contracts amounting to nearly seven and a half million dollars and covering the construction of approximately 575 miles of new state aid roads.

Ohio is engaged in a larger volume of road construction this year under

PREMIER OF GREECE TENDERS RESIGNATION

London, Sept. 12.—A Reuter dispatch from Athens says that the report that Premier Zaimis has tendered his resignation, is officially confirmed and that every effort is being made to persuade him to withdraw it.

Athens, Sept. 12.—(Via London.)—"If the Entente and anti-Entente factions can only keep quiet for ten days and not embroil the situation, Greece's entry into the war will be a settled fact," said a prominent Greek official to the Associated Press today. "If not," he said, "it is the end of Greece."

King Constantine and Premier Zaimis conferred at length on the situation today.

On the whole the situation with regard to Greece's entry into the war on the side of the Entente seems favorable, notwithstanding the arrest last Sunday and Monday by Anglo-French secret police of German and Austrian agents, against which Premier Zaimis vigorously protested, and despite complicity by the French in the disaffection of the eleventh Greek division at Saloniki, which profoundly shocked the Greek public and seriously endangered the success of the negotiations then in progress.

The reported opposition of Russia and Italy's co-operation in the war is actually much less than had been believed, and the Serbs far from objecting, are most anxious that Greece join the Entente.

The only menace of the negotiations in the Greek government holding out too long in the hope of obtaining the concessions offered eighteen months ago but which no longer obtain.

Eight classes of untrained reservists between the ages of 33 and 40 years soon will be called to the colors.

11 Killed In Bridge Disaster

Quebec, Sept. 12.—With the loss of eleven lives yesterday, the second attempt to bridge the St. Lawrence river here resulted in a failure when the massive center span, weighing 5,100 tons, suddenly collapsed and fell into the river. Of the ninety men caught on the span when it began to sway all were rescued except the eleven and of these only four bodies have been found.

SAYS SPAIN MUST DECIDE IN FAVOR OF ONE OF WAR GROUPS

Paris, Sept. 12.—Spain must decide in favor of one or the other of the groups of belligerents in the opinion of Antonio Maura, former premier and leader of the conservative party, according to news dispatches from Madrid quoting an address by Senor Maura.

The address was delivered at Berango, near Bilbao at a meeting attended by 6,000 Mauristas. The former premier declared, according to a dispatch, that Spain could not abandon her neutrality but that the conditions of the war made her isolation henceforth impossible. He is quoted as saying that it was moreover essential that France and England should not be hostile towards Spain.

The Madrid despatch predicts that Senor Maura's speech will cause a strong impression throughout the country, as his prestige was never so high as at present. The majority of his followers are supposed to be pro-German in their sympathies.

WILSON MAKES NO COMMENT ON MAINE ELECTION

New London, Conn., Sept. 12.—Mayflower during the day. The Mayflower today remained near his sister, Mrs. Anna E. Howe, who is critically ill here. His plans depended largely on the outcome of her sickness. Early this morning it was said that her condition was practically unchanged. The first news of the apparent Republican victory in Maine was received from the newspapers this morning. The President would make no comment this morning. Arrangements were made for Mr. Wilson to receive the members of the American and Mexican joint commission on board the naval yacht

ARE HOLDING PRIMARIES IN VERMONT

Burlington, Vt., Sept. 12.—The direct primaries was given its first test in Vermont today with popular interest centered in the triangular fight for the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator. The candidates are Senator Carroll S. Page, Governor Charles W. Gates and former Governor Allen W. Fletcher. Horace F. Graham has no opposition for the Republican nomination for governor. The two members of congress, Frank L. Greene and Porter Dale, Republicans, likewise are unopposed for re-nomination.

With the exception of a few local fights, there are no Democratic contests. The candidates for the principal offices are: U. S. Senator, Miller; Congress, Robert E. Healy and G. Herbert Page; Governor, W. B. Mayo.

LABOR LEADER GIVES OUT ASSURING NEWS

New York, Sept. 12.—The danger of a great general strike to help enforce the demands of the striking traction employees seemed remote today in view of the statement that the only unions likely to be involved in such a movement were those directly concerned with the operations of the street cars. Hugh Frayne, state organizer for the American Federation of Labor, who made this assertion, said that if a sympathetic strike was called, he probably would not involve more than 60,000 workers. In this class he named engineers, firemen, longshoremen and laborers. In other respects the strike situation today showed no mitigation features. The strike now involves three counties and the residents of Yonkers, Mount Vernon and New Rochelle are entirely without street car service. Every trolley car in Manhattan and the Bronx remained stationary last night and service was resumed this morning on only a fraction of normal schedules. The Interborough Rapid Transit Company maintains that subway and elevated trains were running regularly, but the strikers declare that they have made inroads on the ranks of the company's workmen. As the result of the limited service on the surface lines, elevated and subway lines are crowded and the suburban service of the New York Central and the New York-New Haven and Hartford Railway systems is congested.

CHILDREN FED ON PASTEURIZED MILK ESCAPE PLAGUE

New York, Sept. 12.—Nathan Straus, who for twenty-five years has given pasteurized milk to some 2,500 babies in New York, stated that he had written a letter to Surgeon General Rupert Blue, in which he declares that none of the children fed by his milk depots has contracted infantile paralysis. The condition of these babies, said Mr. Straus, "is in no way different from other babies in this city, except that they receive milk that has been made safe food by killing the germs likely to be found in raw milk."

Outlook At Ann Arbor

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 12.—The big staff of coaches that ever trained a Michigan eleven will help Fielding H. Yost try to develop a team with a none too promising squad this year.

Prentiss P. Douglas and Miller Pontius will act as assistant coaches to the varsity. Of the twenty men whom Yost named as a desirable nucleus for the eleven this fall, but ten are scholastically eligible. The squad possesses a powerful line from tackle to tackle with Weiman one of the best freshmen ends ever seen here. Though strong on paper, the Wolverine backfield is not strong physically, as Johnny Maulbetsch, the brilliant half, is below form and Cedric C. Smith, fullback, is susceptible to injury. Mack Choice Of New Crop (State Journal) Melbury, an expert, has shown in Columbus and from reports as to what he has done elsewhere, stacks up as the choice of all the new crop of growers, but it must be remembered that Dillhofer is not on active duty now. In yesterday's first game Melbury got two hits. The last one was a buster to the left fence for an easy score. In the last game he twice struck the ball hard. One smash was right at Gerber and Demmitt got the other.

BILLY LOOKING OVER HIS TALENT

(State Journal) Billy Doyle, Milwaukee scout, was on hand yesterday to look over some of the talent that he has rounded up for scouts. On pitcher Scherdel, a left-hander who hasn't shown here yet, Doyle is very sweet. The youngster was found on the Hanover team of the Blue Grass league. Shortstop Stow, who played yesterday, is from the Port Republic team of the Texas league. Outfielder Healey was picked off the Tulsa, Okla., club. Outfielder McHenry and Catcher Dillhofer were taken from Portsmouth when the Ohio State league stopped. The latter is off duty on account of a split thumb.

Braves Need Johnny Evers

Doston, Sept. 12.—The Boston Nationals, in a slump which has cost them 12 games of the last 14 and threatens their pennant chances, tonight sent out a hurry call to their captain, Johnny Evers. His absence from second base has had an obvious effect on the spirit of the team. Evers has been at a New York lake resort recovering from a nervous and muscular trouble. Manager Stallings said he expected him to report tomorrow.

THE BALKAN CAMPAIGN—ITS MEANING

One of the most interesting articles on the European war we have read in a long time appeared in a recent issue of the London, England, Observer, which explained at length the meaning of the Balkan campaign and the general scheme of the Allied generals to encircle the Teutonic Empires with a ring of steel. We reproduce the article in part and feel sure our readers will find it well worthy of perusal. What the Allies are striving to do and what the Teutonic armies have so far prevented is strikingly shown. Of course the writer, an English military expert, is confident that eventually the campaign plans will be carried out, but his review is free from passion or abuse. The article follows:

"The Balkan campaign extends still further the scheme of things and Roumania's action may complete it. What then? We are often reminded of familiar things in a way that makes them fresh, and so it has been during last week with many movements throughout the struggle. This extraordinary war is more full of wonders than tongue or pen will ever relate. Strive as men may to realize events, our minds can never quite come up with the facts. Generalizations in a vague largeness of language have ceased to suggest anything. Details are as numberless as the sands of the seashore, yet so unlike them to atom—since the sands in this case are all made up of human personalities in infinite movement—that to know the war you would have to know all the details, which is impossible. So we must lose either the mass or the grain of the truth. No one in the field, from Commander-in-chief to private, sees more than samples. Many local aspects are separately overwhelming, and yet we know that beyond sight a vast series of processes, each as overwhelming, make up the inconceivable whole.

I.—A WAR OF WONDERS

This in one sense is a reversal of experience. For some thousands of years at least the resources of language have been ahead of the possibilities of human action; but in this war, bringing out forces and sounding depths never imagined before, man's power of action, and behind that, the play of his mind and soul, have wholly outstripped his capacity to utter. The conflict drags on and becomes more colossal, and is slow, and yet it is never for a moment monotonous. Its varieties are more astounding than its bulk. Habit tries to dull us to the chronic prodigy. We doubt whether many persons have yet pinched themselves when they are asked to realize that before the end of Armageddon all the nations engaged will have mustered them first to last more than forty million men in arms. The conception of space is, perhaps, easier, but even so it is difficult to conceive fighting areas stretching across lands and seas, mountains and plains, for thousands of miles.

To reflections in this vein we shall have to return more than once during today's survey. But in the first place we want our readers to besiege themselves about a new matter, which is big enough, but comparatively simple. Let them get a real grasp of the fact that the Allies are now steadily moving towards the establishment of one front, connecting all their armies for several thousands of miles, stretching right through Europe and Asia, from the Straits of Dover to the Persian Gulf. That achievement will stand out as mighty even in the records of the war. As a link-up of ordered forces across a wide stretch of the world it will be like nothing else at all in human history. It will be the reasoned assurance of full victory and its broad foundation.

II.—THE FIGHT FOR THE THROUGH ROUTE

This approach to a direct junction west and east between all the allied armies with sea power everywhere supporting them, is the real meaning of what is happening at last in the Balkans. There, with the entry of General Sarrail's forces into the general offensive—and the consequences which must follow sooner or later on the Danube, perhaps sooner—events have at last begun to unloose the middle knot of the problem. We have several times explained what was in the first phase a fascinating contest for one particular advantage between the rival groups of belligerents, and how the Central Empires unfortunately won for a time.

Each great war-league at the outset was more or less dislocated. The Western Allies, to the detriment of the common cause in many ways, were cut off by Turkey and Bulgaria from land-contact with Russia. The Central Empires were divided from Bulgaria and Turkey by a single obstacle—Serbia. The British government struck at Gallipoli and Constantinople, but never grasped with sufficient practical imagination and decision what was at stake. They failed to apply the relatively small increase of effort which would have forced a junction with Russia through the Straits in a manner certain to solve in the Allies favor the whole Balkan and Turkish problems. The Central Empires and their confederate succeeded in a similar aim by applying full force. They fell on Serbia and crushed her.

From that moment all our enemies were in contact and had a through route from Belgium to Mesopotamia. As a point in the game it was valuable enough to delay the Allies' victory for six months or a year. The result might have been worse still, but that the French, with the insight of genius, insisted upon the occupation of the Salonika enclave in a way that would keep for the Allies a strong position in the Balkans and enable them to turn the tables in due time. Nine weary months had to pass, however, and many things had to happen elsewhere before the conjunction of circumstances could become favorable.

III.—A CONTINUOUS CHAIN OF ALLIED ARMIES

M. Briand laid down with admirable lucidity and sense the doctrine of the "single front." Many Frenchmen think that by the end of this war their Premier will stand out as great as Gambetta. The theory of the "single front" now seems as obvious as the way of Columbus with the egg. But at the beginning it was by no means equally clear to everybody. It meant that the Allies' interests were all one; that their operations must be concerted and their pressure simultaneous; that no advantage could be gained anywhere but would everywhere assist the cause. As far as possible, these ideas have been applied with the immense effect we know, but the crowning work of full junction between the Allies' armies is yet to be achieved. The completion of that magnificent design is what we hope to see in the next phase of the war.

M. Briand's doctrine can only be interpreted in action with full simplicity and power when the Allies not only operate as if they stood on a "single front," but do indeed possess one continuous front, stretching without interruption from the North Sea shores through Belgium, France, Italy, the Balkans, Roumania and Russia to Riga, with an extension finally bringing the Grand Duke's Army and the British Mesopotamian force into contact in the Middle East. It may take some time, whether months or weeks, to establish the continuous front in the sense of actually riveting the connected chain of armies. We feel confident that it will be done. We see the beginning. The results will be fatal to the enemy.

It does not follow that the drama in the Balkans will rise to the very height of its interest before a little time has passed. We are only at the prelude, but it is remarkable enough. The long interval during which a splendid force was looked up passively in the Balkans has been trying, but the time was not wasted. General Sarrail held down a Bulgarian force which would have been capable of extreme mischief elsewhere, especially at the present juncture, when Turks are fighting even in Galicia. Some dangerous political contingencies which might have given the Central Empires the mastery of the entire Balkans were prevented. Roumania was guarded from undue pressure at the height of the enemy's success. A gallant Serb army was saved and reconstituted and is fighting once more in Macedonia. It became still clearer as time went on that the peninsula must become a theatre of junction for all the Allies if the solution of all their other problems was to be accelerated.

We do not know of any finer thing that could happen both to Portsmouth and to New Boston than the annexation of the smaller city to Portsmouth. Their interests are common, their citizenship of the same stock. Joined together as one city they would continue to grow and make eventually a great and prosperous city. From an economic standpoint New Boston would reap many advantages. Her cost of government would be smaller and she would enjoy many advantages which she does not now possess. If the matter comes to a vote this fall we hope and believe the majority in both places for annexation will be impressively decisive.

In their lust for the sensational metropolitan papers are hitting new strides. One of them sent a young woman reporter out on the streets with instructions to flirt with men and then write up her experiences. She did. She flirted. She found many men to flirt with her. And she touched them up with an artistic hand in her articles.

And what would we all do if we awoke some fine morning and found all of our excellent master bakers snugly reposing behind iron lattice work upon charges of violating the anti-trust laws of the nation!

Father Beaver Finds A Dam

ALL THAT DAY those tired beavers They had not gone two hundred slept. And no wonder! I guess yards before Father Beaver, who anyone would sleep if he had was walking in front, of course, traveled miles and miles and miles spled—what do you suppose? A in search of a home and then had beaver dam! Yes, sir! Right there such a party as the Wigglebakers in Crooked Creek!

Not until about an hour before twilight did Father Beaver open his eyes. At first he hardly knew where he was. You know how it feels to wake up in a strange place—you look around and nothing seems natural and you think you must be in a dream even though you know you are not. Well, that's just how Father Beaver felt.

Then he opened his eyes a little more, stretched himself and looked around. And the minute he spied Crooked Creek he remembered where he was and all about everything.

"Well," said he briskly, "it's time I went to work!" Just at that minute Mother Beaver opened her eyes too. "What in the world—" she began as she looked around in a dazed fashion. And then she too remembered and sat up ready to talk to Father Beaver about what they had better do first.

"I must say I like this location on Crooked Creek," said Father Beaver looking around carefully. "But we must find the best place to put our home. The water is too low here. Suppose we explore further up the stream."

"That suits me," said Mother Beaver. "But what about leaving the children?"

That matter was easily settled. Father Beaver. "I'll go see." He thought, because Bushy and Little Brother Beaver waked up just then and announced that if there was any exploring to be done they meant to go along.

"Very well," laughed Father Beaver good-naturedly, "come along and we'll find something to eat as we go."

Up the stream they started, nibbling at green leaves and bits of tender bark as they went.

Up the stream they started, nibbling at green leaves and bits of tender bark as they went.

"Look at that!" he cried excitedly, "and Policeman Billy said no beavers lived here and we could build any place we wished!"

"Maybe they don't live here," said Mother Beaver. "Maybe they did live here and have left the dam."

"Maybe so, maybe so," said Father Beaver. "I'll go see." He swam out to the dam and nosed his way all over it. "You're right," he called back, "that's just what it is. It's deserted, and says in need of repair. But we can fix it much easier than we can build a new one. We'll make our home near here."

Bushy and Little Brother squealed with delight and followed Mother Beaver out to help explore the dam.

New York, Sept. 12.—Whoever put the nut in the nut sundae has discovered that it costs to keep it there. To the horror of the salesgirl, the stenographer and the reckless spendthrift of the male sex who occasionally runs riot in an ice cream shop, the nut sundae has been advanced in price from ten to fifteen cents.

A fair dispenser of the sundae explained the reason for the boost in price. "The men who used to train the Brazilian monkeys to climb the trees after the nuts are on strike for higher wages and the monkeys have gone out in sympathy with them," she said.

"The English walnut is scarce because of the war, and all we can find out about the history nut in that it won't hick anymore. Gee, it's terrible, ain't it?" O. R. Faris left Monday afternoon to assume his new duties as manager of the Western Union Telegraph company's office at Sandusky, Ohio.

Charlie Somerville, the journalistic prodigy, has a brother Roy who is an expert chemist. To while away dull moments he has been writing moving picture scenarios, and one day, with much hesitancy and greatly alarmed, he asked Charlie to look them over.

Charlie thought they were pretty good and all that sort of thing, but chemistry was a good profession—great opportunities for a young man. In fact he considered his brother as good as the average chemist writing scenarios.

Well, the other day Charlie dropped into a Broadway movie palace. The first picture flashed on the screen was by his chemically inclined brother. Also he has signed a contract as chief film writer for a big concern.

Here's the human touch in some verses by Mary Starbuck in Life. A girl who doesn't like a baby lacks—oh, well, a whole lot of things. But just read this, and you'll agree with us that Mary knows a thing or two!

She's athletic, academic, But she's the girl for me, For I've seen her all unknowing, With a baby on her knee.

She hugged the dimpled kiddie, And she tossed him to and fro, And the little fellow gurgled, For he liked it, don't you know!

And then she sang a ballad, The kind that makes you cry, But the kiddie-boy lay smiling, Looking off into the sky.

Then his eyelids closed so slowly, And my girlie laid him down, Kissed his round head very gently, Turned—and met me with a frown!

She may bent at golf and tennis, May do awful stunts of Greek, But I've seen the real, true girl— She may hide, but I will seek.

She may play at independence, She may prate of brains and mind, But to make that girlie love me The way I'll surely find.

She may jeer and flout and scorn me, But I yet will make her see, That the best worth while of all her Stunts is—just to marry me.

"Jackson was famous, among other things, for having married—one at a time, of course—five sisters. When he presented himself to demand the last of those girls, their progenitorian father was very deaf. A dialogue like this ensued:

"I want Lizzie." "What?" "I want you to give me Lizzie—is-a-bee-th?"

"Oh, you want Liz, do ye? What for?"

"For my wife!" "For life, eh?" "What I mean is—I want to—to marry her!"

"Oh, yes! Just so! I hear ye, boy!" "It's a durned good thing you do," muttered Governor Claiborne Jackson to himself, and he wiped his wet brow with his coat sleeve.

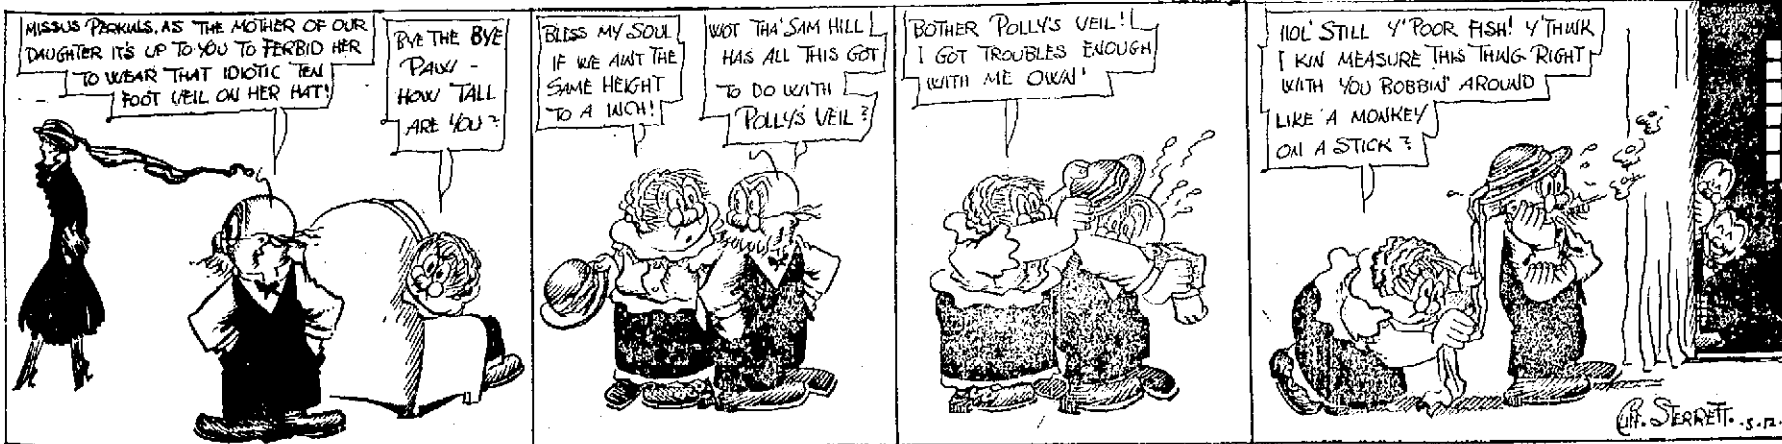

"Yes," said the old man, "I hear ye. Ye needn't holler so loud the whole neighborhood knows our business. I hear ye, boy, and ye can have her; but if anything happens to that poor, misguided girl, don't come and ask me for the old woman!"—Washington Star.

BAKERS STAND PAT; 6 CENT LOAVES NOW ON SALE

The announcement of Prosecuting Attorney Joseph T. Micklethwait Monday concerning the raise in the price of bread by the local bakers, has created much comment. Considerable speculation has been indulged in since as to whether the bakers would retain their old retail price or continue to charge the new scale. The law, the prosecutor held, made the alleged agreement among the local bakers to raise the price of bread an illegal act, which is punishable by a heavy fine and imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Tuesday morning several local bakers stated that their new retail price on bread was effective. The price charged for a five cent loaf is six cents and for the ten cent loaf twelve cents. Prosecutor Micklethwait stated Tuesday morning that he had information that the new price was being charged but declined to make any statement as to what action he would take. One baker has taken a neutral position, announcing that loaves for both five and six cents were being sold. Most everyone in the city is interested in the wrangle between the bakers and the prosecutor and are watching for developments.

Special Trains Arranged For Ironton And Korn Karnival

There will be a special train to Ironton, Thursday evening, with a special rate, R. E. Scott, passenger agent for the Norfolk and Western railroad, announced Monday evening at the joint meeting of the directors of the Business Men's Association and the chairman of the general Korn Karnival committees, held at the Masonic Temple. The time of leaving the city will probably be 8:15 o'clock.

The exact time of leaving and for the return trip will be announced when W. L. Bladen, division passenger agent, Cincinnati, comes to complete arrangements.

There will also be specials on Thursday and Saturday nights of the Korn Karnival. The time of leaving and arrival of these trains on the various divisions will be announced later. It was decided by the directors that the regular passenger service of the Norfolk and Western would meet the demands of the local people who intend to visit the Chillicothe Farmers' Fall Festival next week. A large delegation expect to go to Chillicothe.

Matters pertaining to the Greater 1916 Korn Karnival are rapidly shaping themselves under the direction of the committees.

The parades under the general leadership of Albert E. Marting will be the big feature. Each promises to be enchanting, interesting and educational. The Industrial parade will be the largest event of the Karnival. Paul Esselborn stated that twenty-eight organizations had already joined in the movement and others were expected. Surprises are being kept quiet until the evening of the parade. The Children's parade is always interesting. A letter was received from Rev. J. E. McGuirk, pastor of the Holy Redeemer church, stating that the children of the Holy Redeemer school would be unable to participate in the children's parade this year. The congregation has been placed at considerable expense, the pastor explains, for the erection of a new school and feel that additional expenses should not be incurred this year.

Otto Zoellner, chairman of the farmers' parade, has mailed letters to the farmers of the county asking them to participate and has received several replies. The automobile parade is, of course, booming. This is one of the popular parades. But little preparation is needed for the masqued patriotic parade. Most every one joins in this festivity and enjoys the closing hours of the Karnival.

Charles Dixon, official decorator, expects to have the Korn Karnival decorations up several days before the opening day.

William Z. Trischeller was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for the lighting of the booths.

About two-thirds of the amount required to defray the expenses of the autumnal festival has been pledged, according to W. W. Anderson, chairman of the financial committee. The remaining third is expected to be raised before the opening day.

The executive committee will hold a meeting Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

FINDS MAN WITH HIS WIFE; STABS HIM NEAR HEART

Knife User Accused By Wife Who Makes Serious Charge

Homer Martin, aged 22 years, of Columbus, claiming to be a boilermaker by occupation, was stabbed near the heart and seriously wounded by Ernest Seaff, aged 22, a teamster, when the latter found him with his wife, Mrs. Verda Seaff, at the Seaff home near Twelfth and Waller streets Monday night at 11 o'clock.

Martin now lies in a serious condition at Hempstead hospital while the knife-user is locked up at the city prison, charged with cutting to kill and his wife is held as a witness. Martin spent a very restless night but was reported feeling better Tuesday morning. Seaff admits the cutting, which was done with an ordinary pocket knife. He drives a team for the S. Monroe & Son company on the new flood wall work and said when he reached his home after quitting time Monday evening he found his wife and Martin drinking from a can of beer and no supper prepared. He said he asked her when she expected to have his evening meal ready for him but she gave no satisfactory reply. Martin asked him to have a glass of beer but he refused. He said he left them sitting together and repaired to the home of his stepmother, Mrs. Emma Jackson, of Thirteenth street.

Later he said he met Patrolman Tom Ahrentz and told him about Martin's visits to his home. He said he afterwards started to go home but the sight of Martin sitting in a rocking chair out in front of his house caused him to change his mind and he walked right past him, going to the home of his brother, George Seaff, at Eleventh and Waller streets. He said he remained there until close to 11 o'clock by which time he thought Martin had surely taken his departure. When he reached the house he said he found all of the windows and doors locked. He managed to shake a stick prop loose from one window and raising the window he climbed into the house. He said he found the couple together. This so angered him that he plunged the knife into the sleeping man.

Seaff ran from the house immediately after the cutting but the police found him at the home of his brother at 2 o'clock. Martin displayed a remarkable grit, walking from the Seaff home to Dr. W. D. Micklethwait's office at Eleventh and Offshore streets, Mrs. Seaff accompanying him. It was some time after midnight when they reached the physician's office. An examination showed that the knife had entered Martin's body just below the apex of the heart on the left side. Had it pointed upward he would have been instantly killed. Dr. Micklethwait removed him to the hospital in his automobile.

Martin boarded at the home of his uncle, George Spence, huckster of 1544 Tenth street, for whom he had been working as a driver. His relatives in Columbus are said to be very respectable people. Seaff claims that Martin has been a frequent visitor to his home. Mrs. Seaff, while admitting that Martin was in the house, maintained that the cutting was unjustifiable, saying she was obliged to make her own living and that Seaff forced her to accept the attentions of other men and that he made her turn money thus gained over to him. She is a daughter of Jim Pitts, of Mill street.

Walker Lumber And Veneer Plant At Mound City Destroyed By Fire

Fire, which had its origin in the packing room of the Walker Lumber and Veneer company's plant, located in Mound City, Ill., was discovered at 11 o'clock last night and by one o'clock this morning it was reduced to ashes. The boiler plant, which is located outside of the levee near the main plant was saved. The loss is estimated at $25,000 with $20,000 insurance.

The plant is leased and operated by the Portsmouth Veneer and Panel company of this city, who operate a plant on Mill street. U. A. Swisholm acts as manager of the Mound City plant and the one here. He is in Columbus on business.

A. T. Holecomb, U. A. Swisholm, John Lange and Mrs. W. S. Walker were owners of the Mound City plant.

At one o'clock this morning G. F. Jaynes, bookkeeper for the Portsmouth Veneer and Panel company was called out of bed at his home on Fifth street by a long distance telephone message and notified of the misfortune that had come to his firm. He talked with R. L. Yankee, foreman of the Mound City plant and he informed

Mr. Jaynes that the fire was discovered in the packing room and spread so rapidly that the boiler plant was the only portion saved, it being located outside of the levee.

The plant gave employment to from 80 to 100 employees and turned out rotary cut veneer.

Until recently, Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison have been seen strolling on the American-Mutual program. Before that both were stars with the Famous Players, where they made many notable feature productions. But they were glad to get on the Metro program, under its unique and popular starring system, and pleased to be with Mr. Balshofer, one of the foremost directors of the country.

Mr. Balshofer has exercised special care to select scenarios for Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison in which youth, romance, adventure and the spirit of the great outdoors predominate. It is in such productions that this couple have always excelled and which have won for them thousands of admirers in every quarter of the globe. Mr. Lockwood is one of the most fearless artists now acting before the camera, and always takes a keen delight in doing so-called "stunts of the most dangerous character. He has been injured repeatedly through his daring, but never discouraged.

"The Come Back" is one of the strongest features in which Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison have appeared. It deals for the most part, with life in the logging camps of Northern Maine, with many interesting glimpses of New York society for a contrast in an intense story of today.

Mother And Four Little Children In Need Of Aid

Claiming to have been cast out by her husband's relatives and stranded here among strangers, with her four little children, the youngest but a few months old, Mrs. Arthur McGinnis, of Newberry, Mich., appealed to the city officials for relief Tuesday morning.

The unfortunate had just arrived from Greenup, Ky., on an early C. & O. train. She said her father-in-law, Robert McGinnis, a farmer, had sent them to Portsmouth, telling her that the city officials here would give her a ticket for Newberry, Mich. She said he did not give her a cent of money along for the trip.

The young woman said her husband had been employed in an insane asylum in Michigan and finally lost his reason himself. She said after he began recovering she brought him to his people at Greenup, she also bringing the children, because she felt her husband had been a charge upon her relatives at Newberry for a considerable length of time, and that they might as well live off the McGinnis family for awhile. She said her husband was still at Greenup, but no longer seemed disposed to do anything for her and the children. The officials will investigate her story.
